GUARD FOR CANAL IS URGED

L. A. Sleuth Declares Inyo County Ranchers In Bitter Mood MAY ASK GOVERNOR TO AID IN PROBE Reveals Efforts to Protect Parties Guilty In Dynamite Plot

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—A form of guerilla warfare in which guards will be employed may be necessary to protect the Los Angeles aqueduct from destruction by Owens valley ranchers, according to a report made today by Investigator Jack Diamond of the district attorney's office.

In his report, made to District Attorney Asa Keyes, Diamond said that in his opinion, "no grand jury could be found in Inyo county, where the source of the aqueduct arises, to indict the dynamiters who blasted the canal Wednesday night, and no Inyo county jury would convict them if they did."

Damage to the aqueduct caused by the midnight blast was only $2,000, Diamond reported, while the gang that blew up the canal spent nearly that amount in preparation.

Authorities in Inyo county show little disposition to seek the guilty parties, the investigator said. Sheriff Collins was on a "desperate man hunt" in the mountains at the time of the blast and did not return to Independence, the county seat, until late last night.

District Attorney Keyes is in Sacramento. Over the long distance telephone, he said it may be necessary to call on the governor for state aid in bringing the guilty parties to justice, unless Inyo county authorities show a disposition to prosecute.

"From what I can see," Diamond's report continued, "it will be necessary for the city of Los Angeles to patrol the aqueduct closely with armed guards if a repetition of this explosion is not to occur. If the temper of the ranchers and settlers in this vicinity does not change, a complete army organization will be necessary to maintain the guard around the aqueduct."

JURORS CLEAR MAN IN WHITTIER DEATH

WHITTIER, May 24.—Henry C. Rentz, young grocer's clerk, who shot his wife's lover, Louis Weible, was at liberty on bail today, with a probability he will never be sentenced for the deed.

The coroner's jury late yesterday, after hearing testimony in the shooting, returned a verdict to the effect that Rentz was entirely justified in shooting the man who attempted to break up his home.

Despite the fact that Mrs. Rentz has frequently declared her love for her dead admirer, she and her husband have been reconciled.

Freedom For Islands in 25 Years, Aim

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California today introduced into the Senate a bill providing for independence of the Philippine islands 25 years after the bill's passage.

It was learned that the bill was introduced at the request of Secretary of War Weeks who will appear before the Senate territories committee Tuesday in connection with it.

FOUR PERISH IN COLLAPSE OF BUILDING

Workmen Crushed to Death By Falling Debris as Explosion Causes Disaster.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Four workmen were killed when a 46th street building in course of construction collapsed today.

A score of men were buried beneath girders, rock and masonry when supports of the foundation gave way. One man taken from the ruins died in a hospital and late this afternoon three bodies were dug from under tons of debris.

Ten men were seriously injured. Blasting nearby caused the building to fall without warning and the workers were trapped under falling masonry and girders.

ORCHARD WATER PRICE RAISED HERE TO $1

Heavy demand upon the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company for water for irrigation purposes today had forced the price of water to $1 an hour a head of 100 miner's inches, it was revealed here today.

At the same time it was disclosed that the company has called upon owners of private pumping plants along company ditches to supply the company with as much water as can be spared.

The gravity flow of the Santa Ana river today was thirteen head, exactly the same amount as was flowing at this date last year, Ozro Mansur, secretary, said, adding that sixteen head is being produced by the pumping plants of the company.

He estimated that private pumps at this time were augmenting long on this basis, but water is essential at this time and the supply available from private pumps will have to be resorted to only temporarily to meet the big demand of the moment.

"Following the hot spell of a few days ago orchardists begun irrigating, with the result that it was necessary for use to start our own pumping plants and to call upon private owners to help us meet the demand."

Stating that water is on application, the secretary said that he did not anticipate a volume through the summer less than the supply available now.

Compensated. No payments have ever been received, the heirs claim.

'HONEYMOON' LIQUOR MAN FINED $500

Six Stills In Loot As Three Jailed; Prisoner In Guilt Admission

Arresting for the first time in the history of Orange county a "honeymoon-shiner" Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy on the sheriff's staff, today had taken what officials consider as another big step in his campaign against the illicit liquor trade.

Raiders, headed by Deputy McClellan, arrested three men, including the "bridegroom moon-shiner," and confiscated six stills, a hundred gallons of "bum booze," and nine barrels of raisin mash.

The raids were made late yesterday at Huntington Beach by Deputy Sheriffs McClellan, J. Elliott, R. Ryan, D. Adams, J. Scott, L. Heffner and J. Muriilo.

R. Alvarez, 23, who pleaded guilty today to the possession of a considerable quantity of liquor and admitted owning three stills, according to the officers, told Justice Jack Landel here that he had just been married and was making a "batch" for his honeymoon. He was ordered to pay a fine of $500 or to serve 500 days in the county jail.

Pablo Madrigal, 56, accused of owning three stills and charged with the manufacture of intoxicating liquor, pleaded not guilty and will have his preliminary hearing at 10 a. m. Monday, according to Judge Landel.

Appolines Espitia, 32, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, also pleaded not guilty and will have his opening trial in justice court Monday morning.

Both Madrigal and Espitia were unable to furnish bail and were returned to their cells in the jail here. Alvarez, however, was said to be making attempts to raise the money for his fine, but meanwhile is being held behind the bars.

JAP ENVOY TO QUIT UNLESS BAN VETOED

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Mashanoo Hanihara, Japanese ambassador to Washington, will resign his post here if President Coolidge signs the immigration bill providing for Japanese exclusion, it was learned authoritatively today. Action by the President on the bill is expected momentarily.

Should Hanihara quit the two countries would be without ambassadors in their respective capitals at a time of somewhat strained American-Japanese relations. Cyrus E. Woods, American ambassador to Tokio, already has resigned.

Hanihara, it is said, feels that his usefulness here would be over if the immigration bill is signed. He feels, however, that the situation would be different if the President vetoed the measure.

Even though the bill was passed over Mr. Coolidge's veto, the envoy would feel himself in accord with the administration and would desire to remain at Washington. He might take the same attitude if President Coolidge sends the bill back to Congress, without vetoing it, asking again that the exclusion provision be changed.

Next to a vote such a step by the President would be most desired by the Japanese. Japanese circles have not lost all hope of a veto, but do not believe it very probable.

Harding-Hughes Proposal Goes Down to Defeat In Committee After Bitter Fight; Senator Johnson Votes Against Both Measures

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The Pepper plan for American adherence to the world court today was reported out by the Senate foreign relations committee by a vote of 10 to 6.

The Harding-Hughes plan was defeated by a vote of 10 to 8. The Pepper plan provides for complete divorcement of the court from the League of Nations, as a prerequisite to American participation.

This would be effected by amending the protocol of the court to provide for election of judges, now made by the council and assembly of the league by a "separate electoral council" and an "assembly of signatories."

The committee's action is a defeat for President Coolidge who yesterday made it plain that he stood firmly behind the Harding-Hughes plan, considered himself committed to it and would go to the country for it.

The compulsory arbitration provision protocol of the court also would be eliminated. The committee amended the Pepper plan to provide that any nation having a treaty with a signatory power could appeal to the jurisdiction of the court.

The roll call of the Pepper plan follows: For—(10), Republicans (9), Lodge, Massachusetts; Brandegee, Connecticut; Borah, Idaho; Moses, New Hampshire; McCormick, Illinois; Wadsworth, New York; Lenroot, Wisconsin; Willis, Ohio, and Pepper, Pennsylvania.

Farmer labor—(1) Shipstead, Minnesota. Against—(6), Republicans: Johnson, California; Democrats (5) Swanson, Virginia; Pittman, Nevada; Robinson, Arkansas; Underwood, Alabama; and Walsh, Montana.

The roll call on the Harding plan: For the plan: (8)—Republicans (1), Lenroot, Wisconsin; Democrats (7), Swanson, Pittman, Shields, Tennessee; Robinson, Underwood, Walsh and Owen.

Against—(10), Republicans (9), Lodge, Borah, Brandegee, Johnson, McCormick, Moses, Wadsworth, Willis and Pepper. Farmer-Laborer—(1), Shipstead. Senator McCormick was not present but his vote was cast by proxy.

The action of the committee brings the Pepper plan to the floor of the Senate for debate although final action seems somewhat in doubt. Chairman Lodge of the committee, submitted the resolution as soon as the Senate convened and it was placed on the calendar to be called up later.

Democrats are expected to continue their fight for the Harding plan by offering it as a substitute for the Pepper proposal when it comes up.

"30" BULLETINS

MAPLE HEIGHTS, RACE TRACK, Cleveland, Ohio, May 24.—Black Gold won the Ohio state derby here this afternoon by seven lengths. Payman was second and Dunoon third. Time 1:57.25.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 24.—A special anti-war resolution calling for a conference of all the religious workers to fight the evils of war was adopted unanimously by the Methodist General conference today. The expected fight over the resolution did not materialize.

HILO, T. H., May 24.—Kilauea, volcano on the island of Hawaii, 30 miles from Hilo, which has been in eruption for a week, broke out again today with two terrific explosions. Boulders hurled out from the crater destroyed the army land field on the mountain, used as an operating base for seven airplanes engaged in photographing the eruptions from the air.

THE girl then looked him squarely in the eye and said: "Yes, you did, but you never told me about Betty. You told me about Joan, the girl you married back East, and said the marriage had been annulled, but I never heard about Betty until after we were married."

BELLINGHAM, Wash., May 24.—All Bellingham was today eagerly waiting for Sunday morning when the steamer Catherine D. is due to arrive with two of the world's greatest flying heroes—Major Frederick L. Martin and Sergeant Alva Harvey.

The greatest thrill of anticipation, however, belonged to Mrs. Martin and her eight year old son, Bobby.

They arrived here last night on a train from Seattle and went to the home of Mrs. Martin's sister, Mrs. George Dodson.

NORRIS SAYS WITNESS IN BLACKMAIL

Opponent of Ford Offer Says Girl Incident Story Part of Plot

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Chairman Norris of the senate agriculture committee today announced in open hearing that he had been made the object of a "blackmail plot" because of his opposition to Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals.

Putting Mrs. E. A. Edmundson of Decatur, Alabama, on the stand at the request of Senator Hefflin, Alabama, supporter of the Ford offer, Norris charged her directly with the instigation of the plot, declaring she had accused him falsely of kissing a girl at Muscle Shoals during a recent visit of the committee there.

"Your story is a falsehood," Norris shouted at Mrs. Edmundson. "I know a blackmail plot when I see it."

"Intimations have been given to me that if I did not favor Ford's offer, something of this kind would be hung over my head."

"If you were not a woman, this would not be the end of this. 'I didn't kiss that girl; she kissed me.'"

Mrs. Edmundson was the first witness when hearings were resumed on the various Muscle Shoals offers.

"Do you remember that fine bar scene we had down there, senator?" Mrs. Edmundson asked.

"I asked you, Senator Norris, if you might not favor the Ford offer. You said 'possibly.' You said 'it could kiss one of these pretty girls maybe I could be bribed.' Well, you did kiss one and you are against the Ford offer. It was a betrayal, senator."

After Mrs. Edmundson told her story, Norris jumped up from his chair and asked:

"Are you nearly finished? Your time has expired."

"Just a minute, senator—" Mrs. Edmundson began.

"You have exceeded all the proprieties and told a falsehood as well," Norris interrupted.

Norris asked Mrs. Edmundson if Hefflin brought her before the committee to tell the "kissing story."

"This fixed up in advance to browbeat me," she shouted. "It was a put up job."

"Why, senator, I intended it only as a pleasantry," said Mrs. Edmundson. "I didn't think it would hurt you so. There was nothing 'put up.'"

BRICE Taylor, U. S. C., took the second heat. Keith Lloyd, also of U. S. C., was second; Cliff Argue, Occidental, was third, and Nash Occidental, fourth. The time was 11 seconds flat.

Presbyterian Church Folk Favor Merger

GRAN RAPIDS, Mich., May 24.—That the Presbyterian and the Congregational churches of the nation will soon join was indicated today when the committee on organic union reported in favor of such consolidation to the Presbyterian assembly in business session here.

Although three serious obstacles, creed, church government and status of ministry, still are in the path of such a unification, the committee recommended that instead of trying to change these matters they be avoided.

FEAR DEATH OF FOUR IN AXE ATTACK

Texas Family of Four Brutally Beaten By Fiend; Man's Throat Cut With Razor.

MILFORD, Texas, May 24.—Four members of the family of Roy Murray were found unconscious in their home four miles south of Milford today, suffering from wounds inflicted with a razor and an axe.

Murray and his wife were lying in bed. Murray's throat was cut with a razor and his wife's skull was crushed with an axe.

Their two children, four and six, were in another room, their skulls also crushed with an axe.

100 ATHLETES IN OLYMPIC TRYOUTS

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, May 24.—More than a hundred white-trunked athletes of Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico trotted out on the Coliseum field here this afternoon to participate in the southwestern tryouts for the Olympic tryouts.

The 10,000 meter race, equivalent to 6 miles, 379.64 yards, was the first event of the afternoon. It was won by Art Forward, L. A. A. C. Carlton, Waite, Polytechnic high school, was second, and L. Cheney, L. A. A. C., third. Time 35 minutes, 19.25 seconds.

It was announced that Charles Paddock, world's fastest sprinter, would not run in the 100 meter event, not wishing to take a chance of again straining his weak ankle. He was to run, however, in the 200 meter event, scheduled for 4 o'clock.

Howard Torkelson, U. S. C., won the first heat of the 100 meter run. He finished just ahead of his teammate, Hershall Smith. A. Woodward, Jefferson high school, was third. Torkelson's time was 10.45 seconds.

Brice Taylor, U. S. C., took the second heat. Keith Lloyd, also of U. S. C., was second; Cliff Argue, Occidental, was third, and Nash Occidental, fourth. The time was 11 seconds flat.

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—The office records of F. G. Cox, Inc., fiscal agents for the Doble Steam Motors corporation, were stored in a vault at the hall of justice today, having been taken there when officials of the state corporation commission and detectives raided the office yesterday.

They carried a search warrant secured by E. M. Daugherty, state corporation commissioner, who charged irregularities in the sale of some $300,000 worth of Doble stock.

Stirred by scores of letters demanding to know if New York has "one law for the rich and another law for the poor," Mayor Hylan has ordered the papers in the case sent to his office. The Mayor was moved to take action when motorists of high and low degree, who had suffered the lash of the law as it applies to speeders, protested indignantly against leniency to Miss Rockefeller.

Some of the letters were anonymous, one being signed "One of the Common People." Miss Rockefeller is the daughter of John D. Rockefeller, jr.

POLICE ON GUARD AT STRICKEN HOME

Authorities Admit Failure In Effort to Trace Chicago Killers

(By United Press Leased Wire) CHICAGO, May 24.—Two threats made today against the life of Jacob Franks, millionaire, whose son, Robert, 14, was kidnaped and slain, galvanized police into new activity in the hunt for the slayers. Squads of policemen and detectives were detailed to guard the Franks' home.

Other officers are working with postal authorities in an effort to trace the letter received today by the father. This letter threatened death unless the hunt for the boy's killers was stopped.

A second threat of death was received today over the telephone. A woman called the Franks' home and warned reprisals if the hunt continued.

The letter was mailed special delivery and was written with pen and ink. Enclosed was a photograph of Josephine Franks, 17-year-old daughter of Jacob Franks. It had been clipped from a newspaper.

Threaten Daughter "She is next," the letter stated, according to a report made to Crave.

The letter also contained abuse for the father.

One line stated: "You are a skunk." There was no signature. Confessing themselves temporarily baffled, police today retraced the trails followed during the last 16 hours on the hunt for the slayers.

The coroner believes Franks was suffocated, either with a gag or the bare hand. Chemists, however, are still working on the theory that poison was forced on the boy. Their work will not be finished until Monday, they said.

Absolves Instructors Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes has absolved the instructors at Harvard private school, attended by the boy. Several were subjected to severe and lengthy examinations.

This only clues in the hands of the police in addition to those secured today are:

A pair of spectacles, apparently the property of a woman and thereby giving rise to the theory that a woman is implicated. The typewritten letter demanding $10,000 ransom and the knowledge that the boy was kidnaped about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon near his school by persons in a big touring car.

Heirs To Old Mexican Rancho In Court Battle To Seize Ti Juana

SANTA BARBARA, May 24.—Court action over title to 13,000 acres of Lower California land, including the site of Ti Juana, Mexico, the famous resort, and all buildings there, was announced here today. It is claimed that more than $175,000,000 worth of property is involved.

Heirs of the Arguellos and Zarameno families, former owners of the tract, have started the legal battle, claiming that the rancho was never sold but many years ago Mexican officials and others were given the privilege of building on the land with the understanding the owners would be compensated. No payments have ever been received, the heirs claim.

"BY DIVINE RIGHT" AT WALKER TOMORROW
 "By Divine Right," coming to Walker's theater tomorrow is replete with thrills, drama and suspense.

The first big thrill is found in a fire scene which recalls the remarkable scenes shown in the recent release "The Third Alarm." The thrilling fire scene in "By Divine Right" is quickly followed by a train wreck that will thrill you until you gasp with suspense.

Elliott Dexter plays the leading role in "By Divine Right," which has been adapted to the screen from Adam Hull Shirk's story, "The Way Men Love." The feminine lead is played by Mildred Harris. The supporting cast includes such noted players as Anders Randolph, Grace Carlisle, Sydney Bracey, DeWitt C. Jennings and Jeanne Carpenter.

"WHEN A GIRL LOVES" AT TEMPLE SUNDAY

To have loved a man faithfully—to have suffered unbearably at the news of his death—to have refound him in life—and then to have discovered that he is married to another woman!

This is the dramatic situation in "When a Girl Loves," the picture opening tomorrow at the Yost theater. As played by Agnes Ayres, the role has immense possibilities. This clever actress misses no appeal to win sympathy of her audiences, and has made Sasha Boroff one of the most interesting characterizations she has ever portrayed.

Playing "opposite" her in "When a Girl Loves," is Percy Marmont, who scored a distinct individual success by his great acting of Mark Sabre in "If Winter Comes."

"40 HORSE HAWKINS" ON WALKER'S SCREEN

Persons who have curiosity as to just how much laughing they can stand without collapse should go to Walker's theater tonight, where "40 Horse Hawkins," is being screened. For genuine humor requiring none of the usual mechanical upholstery to "put it across," Hoot Gibson's starring vehicle is all there.

It is true that "40 Horse Hawkins" goes into a past dim to most recent day theatrical patrons, but in the daks from which this was dragged, this fun-machinery was taken seriously. It is melodrama of the "East Lynne" type, starring, freezing mother and babe, sneer-

Mary Pickford in a scene from "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," picture now showing at West End theater.

"Hoot" Gibson now playing in "40-Horse Hawkins" at Walker's theater.

"THE WANTERS" DUE AT YOST ON MONDAY

In the selection of the cast for his latest production, "The Wanters," the picture that is coming to the Yost theater Monday for an engagement of two days, John M. Stahl gathered together stage and screen stars of long standing popularity with the public.

In "The Wanters" there is a wide variety of characterizations, and in order to have people of the story properly represented Director Stahl spent months in choosing the cast. Marie Prevost plays the leading part as a demure little serving maid who is transformed overnight into a society debutante—one of the most fascinating roles ever offered on the screen. Robert Ellis is seen as the hero of her romance, while Huntley Gordon and Gertrude Astor complicate the plot and provide an air of bored aristocracy.

Norma Shearer plays the part of a beautiful, but susceptible little flapper, and Lincoln Stedman portrays her much-refused but persevering Romeo. Three comedy favorites, Louise Fazenda, Hank Mann and Lydia Yeamans Titus, add the humorous touches to the picture, balancing the severe hauteur of Lillian Langdon in the role of a society leader with an important family tree.

MARY GROWS UP IN NEW FILM AT WEST END

In "Rosita," Mary Pickford appeared as a grown-up young woman, with the famous curls held in place by a baretta comb, and her admirers immediately accepted her with the same enthusiasm as they did when she was a child on the screen. As the street singer of Seville, Mary portrayed a characterization totally different from anything she has ever done in the past.

In "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," the picture now showing at the West End theater tomorrow, Miss Pickford again appears as a grown woman, but instead of the rags of the street, she wears gorgeous clothes against a background of beautiful settings, and is a fashionable lady of Elizabethan England.

It is a real test of the versatility of this star and she rises to greater histrionic heights than at any time during the past. The part of Dorothy Vernon calls for the utmost in dramatic acting, with expressions varying from the comedy for which Miss Pickford is famous to extremely dramatic moments, one of which shows what happens when she realizes that in her haste she has caused an order to be given for the death of her lover.

As Dorothy Vernon, Mary Pickford appears more beautiful than ever and the vivacious and wilful little lady of Haddon hall will win the hearts of those who see the picture, just as in it she wins the heart of Sir John Manners.

should be perplexed at God's delay when you are so eager to join your beloved in his more glorious tasks in the life beyond. But in ways which pass man's understanding you continue here and there to minister to his peace and happiness. There, by faithful service here you put yourself to do with him and for him, when your days on earth are done, so much that you could not do if you went home today.

Judge, As Victim, Secures $25 Fine
For L. A. Driver

The case of William Randolph, Los Angeles motorist, who was charged with reckless driving after his car, it was alleged, had crowded Judge Z. B. West's machine off the road in Brea canyon last January, was closed today with the payment of a $25 fine by Randolph in Justice Jack Landel's court here.
On the recommendation of Judge West, Randolph was given the minimum penalty for the offense charged.

News Briefs

Outlining plans for next year, the Orange county farm bureau agricultural educational committee met at 10 a. m. today in the offices of the farm bureau here, with F. L.
Griffin, expert from the University of California. Those present were A. M. Stanley, Santa Ana; Dr. J. R.
Scott, Buena Park; C. W. Coman, Fullerton, and W. L. Ritter of El Toro.

Marking the closing event of the Logan Mexican school at Logan and Stafford streets, the annual art exhibit held yesterday afternoon, was reviewed by scores of persons, according to report today. Art work and handiwork in weaving and clay modeling was on display.
The work exhibited was executed by pupils of the first, second and third grades.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Skirvin, 1501 North Broadway, had as their guest yesterday Mrs. Jessie Pringle, a member of the "Lightnin'" company which appeared at a local theater. Mrs.
Pringle, who takes the part of "Ma" Jones, the wife of "Lightnin'" is a member of the original company, having played with Frank Bacon during all of the time that he made the play famous. Years ago Mr. Skirvin was in the newspaper business at Keokuk, Ia. Mr. Pringle was city editor of Mr. Skirvin's newspaper.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Stearns, better known in the theatrical world as Clay Stearns and Dot Shirley, are visiting Clay's mother, Mrs.
Ida M. Stearns, Costa Mesa. They are on a vacation after having completed a long engagement at San Diego, where they presented dancing and music arts. They also have won an excellent reputation in their theatrical work at the New York Winter Garden and on the Keith and Orpheum theatrical circuits. Upon completion of their vacation at Newport, Balboa and Costa Mesa, Mr. and Mrs. Stearns will join a stage production to be organized in Los Angeles.

"Early Experiences in Orange County" is the general subject of talks to be made before the Orange County Historical Society at its meeting to be held at the public library here Monday evening. The speakers will be W. M. and Ed Tedford, brothers, who have been residents of this section since 1869. As a boy, Ed Tedford carried chain for the surveyor who laid out the township of Santa Ana. J. E. Pleasants, of Santiago canyon, will read a paper of reminiscences of early days in this county.

Officers of Calumet Camp No.
26, United Spanish War Veterans, today reiterated their request that members of the organization and the women's auxiliary take part in Memorial services to be held at the First Presbyterian church here tomorrow. The Rev. William E. Roberts, pastor, will deliver the sermon.

7 Drivers and 2
Held as 'Drunks'
Pay $102 in Fines

Seven traffic violators and two convicted as "drunks" today had enriched the city $102 in fines levied by City Recorder W. F.
Heathman.

F. C. Milbury and William Mc-Bride were fined $15 each, for speeding their automobiles through a dangerous intersection; Charles G. Etchinson, $15, for traveling too fast within the city limits; Mamie Rimel, W. T. Mitchell and Pastor Arroya, $5 each, for parking overtime in the two-hour zone, and F. W. Sanford, $2, for parking in the restricted district.

J. J. Garrison was fined $25 on a charge of being drunk and J. J.
Miller paid $15 when convicted in Heathman's court of the same asserted offense.

Dentist's Home
Here Ransacked
By 'Cat' Thief

Dr. Charles Whitted, local dentist, today had reported what is believed by police to be further activities of Santa Ana's "cat burglar" who has "pussy-footed" through several homes here and tossed aside valuable jewelry while searching occupied bedrooms for cash.

According to Dr. Whitted, his residence at 1903 North Main street was ransacked Thursday night while no one was home. Various articles of jewelry had been strawn about carelessly, but only $1 in money was taken by the burglar.

Entrance to the house had been gained by cutting the screen which surrounded the back porch, and by breaking a window so that the thief could climb into the kitchen.
Every room in the house had been left topsy-turvy by the intruder, according to the report of the police investigation.

LOCAL SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
COMPARES WITH BEST, VIEW OF POPULAR S. A. PIANISTE

Joining other musicians here in praising the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra and urging full attendance at the concert which this organization is to give Thursday night at the Ebell clubhouse, Miss Ruth Armstrong, one of the city's most accomplished pianists, today declared the orchestra to be achieving remarkable results.

"Conductor D. C. Clafoni and his musicians are doing a wonderful work," Miss Armstrong said.
"It has been said several times before, but it is worth repeating—that the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra is entirely worthy of every support that this city can give it."

"The orchestra's performance compares more than favorably with that of other larger and more seasoned organizations."
"One of its outstanding features —a mark of true musicianship—is response which each musician gives to Conductor Clafoni's baton in the matter of phrasing, of which art he is undoubtedly a master."

Crescendo Playing Test
"One of the numerous tests of an orchestra is the manner in which it plays the crescendo parts.
If it approaches these timidly, un-convincingly, it is nine times out of ten the fault of the conductor.
The Santa Ana Symphony orchestra executes such passages with a vigor that most certainly carries with it a thrill for every person who loves music. On the other hand, so completely are the players under the conductor's dominance, that their response to him in the pianissimo passages is equally alert and artistic.

"It cannot be denied that musical appreciation is one of the most valuable qualities which a community can have. Thus, what better way for Santa Anans to better their understanding of things musical than by attending this concert? The cost is so nominal that it amounts to virtually nothing, especially in comparison with the excellence of the program."

L. A. Tenor to Sing Much interest is said to be evinced here in the fact that Henri La Bonte, operatic tenor, of Los Angeles, will appear on the program.

Concerning him, Walter Anthony, of the San Francisco Chronicle, said:
"The tenor's singular capacity to break through the conventions of a concert hall and sing direct from heart to heart, was a factor in his success of such unusual persuasiveness that I know of no singer the equal of La Bonte in his delightful gift."

It was reiterated today that concert tickets are available at three points in the city: The Santa Ana Book Store; Shafer's Music store, and the Chandler Music store.

COUNTY WOMEN'S CLUBS AT CONVENTION HEAR ORIENTAL EXCLUSION PLAN UNDER FIRE

By OLIVE LOPEZ

Playing the Japanese exclusion act in no uncertain terms, the Rev.
W. L. Thornton of Fullerton yesterday in an address on "Facing the Future Unafraid," delivered before 250 clubwomen at the twelfth biennial convention of the Orange County Federation of Women's Clubs at Placentia, stated that the senate and house no longer represented the will of the people of the United States.

The Rev. Mr. Thornton compared the cowardice of Hamlet to the bravery of Rupert Brooke who thanked God for trials that he might triumph over them.
"Difficulties make for progress," he declared. "You cannot whip an individual, he whips himself. Fears of the troubles of life and cowardice in meeting and facing them, are brought about by ignorance and superstition. Only through truth is progress made and the truth will set you free."

In denouncing the Japanese exclusion bill, the speaker pointed out that Japan has no illiteracy, while in the United States 12 per cent of the population is illiterate.

"Prejudice should not be permitted to prevail against any race, and especially against a nation we face across the Pacific," was his conclusion.

The address came at the close of a day full of interest, the pretty little clubhouse of the Placentia Round Table being filled to capacity. The hostess clubwomen had decked the place with Scotch broom and larkspur, the colors of the federation.

Opened at 10 A. M.
The convention was opened at 10 o'clock by Mrs. B. E. Knight, of Yorba Linda, president of the county federation, who invited to the platform all officers and district and county chairmen. Mrs. H. M.
Sammis of Santa Ana, chairman of music, led the assembly singing of "America the Beautiful" and "Annie Laurie," which was followed by the salute to the beautiful flag, which stood in its standard at the side of the platform. Mrs. Alvin Block of Costa Mesa, chairman of Americanization, led in the ceremony and was followed by an impressive invocation by the Rev. G.
A. Manshardt of Placentia.

A warm welcome was extended the visitors by Mrs. A. Pierotti, president of the Placentia Round Table, who stated that the coming together of these delegates was as a family reunion. She wished great power to the convention and hoped that its delegates would never espouse an unworthy cause.

The response was cleverly made by Mrs. J. A. Porter of Newport Beach, who told how the first convention came into existence by the wish of Mr. Pierotti to tell Mrs.
Pierotti of his wonderful profession in a fight with a dinosaur.
When she turned a deaf ear to his story, he found a neighbor prehistoric and others gathering about to listen, made an audience which has grown and flourished until now companies are drawn together and great things are accomplished by the fulfillment of Christ's statement that "whenever two or three are gathered together in My name, there am I in the midst of them."

Mrs. Block extended sincere thanks for the genuine hospitality of the hostess women.

Some Disappointments.
A number of disappointments marked the day's proceedings, among them being the inability of Mrs. Kenneth D. Oliver, southern district president, to be present to open the convention, and the subsequent message that Mrs. J. C.
Urquhart, the state president, who was to take her place, had a conflicting date. However, Mrs.
Knight opened the convention in a very acceptable manner, and gave a very interesting report of her year's work. Two new clubs have been organized, half of the nineteen county clubs have been federated, three fine new clubhouses have been erected, and four new departments added. Mrs. Knight wrote 215 letters, and added many meetings. She paid high tribute to her executive board and to the state and district officers and chairmen, who assisted during her term.

The federation officers made fine reports, and the outstanding feature of the morning session occurred when Miss Beatrice Woodward, field worker of the state tuberculosis association, made a startling report as to tubercular conditions in Orange county.

Miss Woodward stated that during a recent series of diagnostic chest clinics held in the county, 133 children and 52 adults were examined. Of these four children and seven adults had positive cases of tuberculosis. There were nineteen suspected cases of children and six of adults.

"What is to be done with these nineteen children?" she asked.
"They should be cared for immediately, put into a camp for the summer and later into preventoria.
There is a law against having thickets of smallpox, scarlet fever, measles, in which the children are placed. There should be a children's pavilion for the care of the underweight and post-adolescent children in connection with the tuberculosis hospital which the counties of Riverside and Orange are to build in conjunction.

196 Persons Die.
"Orange county has now commenced real work for the control of the great white plague by the employment of a full time nurse, employed by the Orange County Tuberculosis association, the salary being paid from the sale of Christmas seals but now that the work reveals these little children, who can be saved by proper care,
a preventorium is sadly needed in which to place them. More than 196 persons died of tuberculosis in Orange county last year."

Miss Woodward was followed by Miss Amelia Meagher, the county nurse, who made another urgent appeal for some action to be taken in regard to caring for these nineteen little folks, who will develop tuberculosis unless means are employed to prevent it.

Mrs. C. C. Violet of Garden Grove chairman of child welfare, was made chairman of a committee to act in conjunction with the Orange County Tuberculosis association in regard to the matter.

Miss Margaret Wickes of Santa Ana played two instrumental numbers beautifully, "Fantasia in prompts," by Schubert, and the Rigoletto quartet, by Verdi. In response to hearty applause she replied with an encore "The Cas-tanets."

The women of the Presbyterian church served a delicious luncheon at noon in the dining room of the church.

The opening of the afternoon session was followed by Mrs. H.
M. Sammis in the assembly singing, as she asked the women to sing in parts "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean," and "Love's Old Sweet Song."

The credentials chairman announced that there were present one district and state officer, seven county officers, four district officers, eleven district chairmen, thirteen county chairmen, sixty-one delegates, seven alternates, and thirty-nine visitors.

Elect Officers.
The officers presented by the nominating committee in the morning, were unopposed, and the choice was made unanimously by the delegates as follows:
President, Mrs. E. E. Knight,
Yorba Linda (re-elected).
Vice president, Mrs. R. E. Arundel of Huntington Beach.
Recording secretary, Mrs. J. B.
Kelsy, Garden Grove.
Corresponding secretary, Mrs.
Joseph F. Thurston of Laguna Beach.
Auditor, Dr. Evelyn Peo, Santa Ana.

Federation secretary, Mrs. Guy
G. Richardson of Orange.
Mrs. W. L. Deimling, a member of the biennial convention fruit and flower committee, made an interesting report, and told of the plans to make, the big convention more enjoyable for the visitors by the decorations and presentation of baskets of fruit. She asked that donations be sent to the warehouse of the Fullerton Ice company by evening of June 4, or left at her home, 1323 North Broadway. Oranges have been promised by the Yorba Linda and La Habra associations, but many more are needed.

Two hundred of the biennial visitors will be taken on a tour of the county on "Play day" June 7, when 100 automobiles will be needed.
The route has not yet been decided upon, but there will be a barbecue luncheon at Laguna Beach and a visit to San Juan Capistrano mission.

Many reports of wonderful work accomplished were made by the presidents of the various county clubs.

CHARIVARI FIRE
CHIEF, BRIDE
ON RETURN

With a screaming of sirens and clanging of bells, a hook and ladder truck, hose and chemical combination apparatus and the fire chief's automobile from the main fire station attracted much attention as the fire-fighters broke their way through downtown traffic at 7
p. m. yesterday, coming to a stop at 422 Eastside avenue.

When autoists and pedestrians recognized Mayor John W. Tubbs and Councilman E. B. Coiler on the fire department apparatus, a huge crowd followed the fire trucks to the scene of the expected conflagration.

But when the apparatus reached its destination, the noise did not stop—the sirens screamed louder and the horns were beaten more vigorously while dozens of automobile horns added to the din.

Then out of a window at 422 Eastside avenue peered the blushing faces of Fire Chief John Lux-emburger and his bride, to grin in appreciation of the charivari.

The newlyweds then invited the crowd inside their domicile and the invitation was promptly accepted by the firemen and city officials in the crowd.

The firemen who participated in the noisy affair were members of the department who were off duty, and a large number of volunteer fire-fighters.

Sole Listing of Realty Upheld;
$1050 Awarded

The "exclusive real estate listing" stood sustained today as a binding agreement for the payment of a broker's commission, even though the broker does not make the sale, the superior court here having so decided the case of M. J.
Graves against M. A. Maxwell.

Judge Z. B. West yesterday gave Graves judgment for $1050, representing a 10 per cent commission on the sale of Maxwell's service station at Anaheim.

Graves, the testimony showed, did not sell the station. Maxwell sold it himself. But Maxwell had given Graves an exclusive listing, which was shown, and under the terms of the listing, which was presented in court, Graves was entitled to the commission of 10 per cent, no matter who sold the station.

Maxwell testified that he had written a letter to Graves, cancelling the listing, but corroborating proof was lacking.

Graves, it was testified, had produced a buyer for Maxwell's station, but found that Maxwell had already sold it. Maxwell refused to

TALK ON NEGRO IN SOUTHLAND GIVEN HERE

Members of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors today were better informed concerning problems of the negroes of Southern California, following an address delivered by the Rev. J. C. Wade, colored, general missionary of the Western Baptist association, at yesterday's meeting of the board held at the Colonial club, 2038 North Main street.

Negroes are arriving in Los Angeles at the rate of 900 a month, the speaker declared. Thus, he added, the negro population of the Southland has a real problem on its hands in educating and acquainting the new arrivals with the practices and customs of the West.

"These people were born and reared in the South and know little or nothing of the ways out here," said the Rev. Mr. Wade. "We must educate them in our customs, must teach them the better ways of living to avoid possibility of their becoming criminals and bringing reproach upon our race."

Tells Money Habits

Declaring that the newcomers were largely farm laborers and comparing their habits with those of the Japanese, the speaker added that if "a Japanese makes $4 a day he sends $3 back to his native land and lives on $1, whereas, if a negro is paid $4 a day he not only spends the $4 with a local merchant but becomes the debtor of the merchant to the amount of 50c."

He made an earnest appeal for consideration of his race in the matter of employment and in the matter of housing. His race is not seeking social equality, he said. He suggested that in the establishment of new subdivisions, provision be made for a point in which negroes could establish homes.

"We colored folk love a home just as sincerely and just as deeply as do you white people," the speaker added.

Predicts Exodus

The Rev. Mr. Wade recounted how the negroes originally were brought to this country from Africa, and predicted that the time would come when the negroes of this country would migrate to their native land and carry with them for introduction among their brothers the customs and habits of American civilization.

C. N. Grace and W. L. Salisbury were named as accredited delegates from the board to the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards to convene in Washington, June 3. Grace has completed preparations for attending and will be accompanied by Mrs. Grace. Salisbury will be accompanied by Mrs. Salisbury.

EARPHONES IN CHURCH

NORFOLK, Neb., May 24.—When some of the older people of the Grace Lutheran church here began to miss services, the pastor found that they stayed away because they couldn't hear the sermons. So special earphones have been placed in the pews and connected with the pulpit. Attendance is on the upward trend.

Orders Man Pay To Assist Wife

Ignacio Carroll was on probation today following his appearance before Superior Judge F. C. Drumm here on a charge of failing to provide for his family. The court, in granting him probation, ordered that he pay $25 per month toward support of his family.

Chinese wives must serve their parents-in-law as they would their own father and mother, even to the extent of assisting them in their toilets.

Isbury had not as yet definitely decided that he would make the trip.

The board members were served with an excellent luncheon at the new club.

Business actions included the adoption of an amendment making it possible for the central office of the multiple listing bureau of the organization to be situated in the office of a real estate broker.

Set Monday As Moving Day At Juvenile Home

The new county juvenile home will be occupied Monday, R. R. Miller, county probation officer, announced today.

Superintendent A. H. Dawson and Mrs. Minnie Dawson, matron, were today busy with preparations for moving their charges into the new building.

"Bright and early" Monday morning, Mitchell stated, they will abandon the old "detention home" on Grand avenue, and move into the new $40,000 building on Fruit street, near Grand avenue.

All of the juvenile authorities were elated at the prospect of occupying the new home, which provides not only much more modern and convenient facilities, but more room as well. The new home is understood to have accommodations for between thirty-five and forty inmates.

"DECORATION DAYS OF LIFE"

Let the Nation stop and with bowed heads think of the past, then of its future.

Our Service Will Help You and You Are Welcome

William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk

To this day, Cyrus, king of Persia, remains one of the greatest rulers known to history—and the days of his glory were almost six hundred years before Christ.

By his own genius he rose to the head of the most extensive kingdom that any one had governed up to that time.

And wherever the Bible is read he is known as the king whose hosts conquered the proudest of all ancient cities—Babylon—even while Belshazzar was entertaining his guests at history's most drunken revel—the feast at which the prophet Daniel interpreted the handwriting on the wall—MENE, MENE, TEKEL, UPHARSIN.

To Jew and Christian alike, Cyrus is also famous in connection with another Biblical event—the rebuilding of the temple in Jerusalem after its complete destruction by Nebuchadnezzar at the time that great prince of Babylon led the Jews into captivity into the very heart of his dominions.

Unprecedented Liberality

"The Lord God of heaven, hath charged me to build him an house in Jerusalem"—thus Ezra the prophet records Cyrus as saying; and thus moved by divine suggestion—"that the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled"—he notified the Jews, captive in Babylonia three score and ten years, that they might return to the Zion of their dreams and rear there a house of worship of their own on the ruins of the temple that Solomon had built.

It was unprecedented liberality on the part of the monarch.

It would have been liberal to release the Jews from bondage and allow them to get back to Palestine as best they could; but he commanded his people to lend assistance—all the assistance needed—money, goods and beasts of burden.

Still more remarkable, he sent back all the valuable vessels of gold and silver taken from Jerusalem when Nebuchadnezzar, also fulfilling the prophecy of Jeremiah, brought ruin upon the Holy City and led its people captive.

The Persians were quite different from the Egyptians. In the latter case, the children of Israel went into Egypt by invitation of Pharaoh and were afterward held in servitude until released by the killing of the first-born and they were then pursued to the Red Sea.

In the Babylonian exile, the Israelites were carried away from Jerusalem as captives in war and were not only set free but received whatever aid they needed for their journey home.

Individual Influence

Among the Jewish captives there were a number (Daniel among them) who had distinguished themselves by devotion to their God and by eminent service to the Persian monarch, and their good deeds doubtless counted in the balance in creating a kindly attitude toward the race.

The influence of the individual in affecting public opinion as to his race nationality or group is too important to be overlooked. Where the blame can be located, it is not fair to blame a group for the crime of one member, but critics are prone to judge the whole by the virtues or vices of the individual.

A Much Needed Lesson

The enthusiasm with which they set about their new work gives us a lesson in church building. "They sang together in praising and giving thanks unto the Lord; because he is good, for his mercy endureth forever toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was laid."

In this case, there was a resurrection of faith and a rebuilding of the house of God, but the laying of the foundation of any new church building should be an occasion of rejoicing, for it has all the meaning that it had in ancient days, and more; it means the building of our lives on a religious foundation.

And when was such a lesson more needed? Modern civilization, with its intense business activities, its multiplied diversions and its materialistic delusions, is leaving little time for worship and is crowding out the thought of religion.

No Substitute Possible

None of the new things, however, furnish a substitute for consecration of the heart—out of which are "the issues of life." Business needs occupy the time, unproven hypotheses detract the thoughts and worldly pleasures paralyze the purpose.

God has not changed, but He seems farther away—"Tis little joy to know I'm farther off from heaven than I was when a boy."

The Bible has not changed, but its veracity is questioned; Christ has not changed, but He is being misrepresented; man has not changed, but he is misled.

If the American people were to turn to church building with the joy that the children of Israel manifested, it would revolutionize society.

If business were run upon the basis of love and brotherhood, pure food laws and anti-trust laws would be unnecessary. Politics would be purged of corruption and social life would be simplified—neighbors would meet together to hold intellectual communion instead of assembling to exhibit rivalry in cooking and to display extravagance in dress.

What the Church Should Be

The church should not be a dormitory filled with sleepy communicants, but a school house for instruction in God's word and a place in which Christians should learn to apply the moral code of Jesus, hasten the coming of his kingdom.

The cause of the Master and the welfare of the people are bound to suffer if joy-riding in automobiles and pleasure yachts is more alluring than simple worship in the temple of God.

Many of the older Jews, "priests and Levites, and chief of the fathers"—men that had seen the first house—were when the foundation of this second house was laid.

The young should not be indifferent to religion, but when the pulse is full and death seems remote, they sometimes are. It is different with those who are growing old; as the ties of life are loosening and the day approaches when one must make the great adventure into another world, one realizes the consolation of a religion that pledges the love of a Heavenly Father, provides a Saviour as a remedy for sin, and holds out the promise of a life beyond the grave.

Dawn of a New Day

Rebuilding has in it an element that is absent in the first construction; it implies an earnestness even greater than that required for building the original structure, whether it be a temple, a residence, or a character. It is the dawn of a new day after intervening darkness. May all our nights be followed by a morning and all our sorrows be swallowed up in seasons of rejoicing. Daughter Plans Party To Honor Birthday Of Her Mother

Successful in all its pleasant details was a birthday party which Miss Betty Fitzgerald planned and carried out Thursday afternoon as a surprise to her mother, Mrs. H. C. Fitzgerald of 1314 East Third street.

The occasion celebrated Mrs. Fitzgerald's birthday and in her honor, her young daughter decked the home charmingly with roses and carnations. An afternoon of music and friendly chat was enjoyed and at the tea hour, delicious cake and hot chocolate were served.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was showered with many pretty gifts by her assembled friends who included Mesdames Epperly, McDonald, Turner, Dodd, Bolkenberg, Garrett of Whittier, P. A. Trickey, Martha Simmons, Bess Simmons and children, Alma and Paul, and Annie Whitford and children.

Missionary Society

When members of Spurgeon Memorial Missionary society gathered yesterday for a Missionary tea at the home of Mrs. Lester Slaback, they enjoyed a happy social afternoon following the impressive devotional service.

Mrs. Slaback was assisted by a friendly committee composed of Mesdames Frank Tedford, Walter Fine, O. Lewis, Alice Turner, Ida Morrison, Sarah Harper, Mary Toney, Nora Allen, J. M. Stratton, Charles Hinton, B. W. McClure and Miss Lilla Farley.

The home was charming in a pink and white color harmony, carried out in the big parlors by massed carnations and in the dining room by dainty May baskets of pink filled with Cecil Brunner buds, and with rosy garlands falling from the chandelier to the prettily appointed table.

Seventy members and many happy children gathered for the event and were led in prayer by Mrs. Stratton after a Scripture reading by Mrs. Fine. The program offered piano numbers brilliantly played by Miss Nell Marie Hinton, delightful vocal numbers by Mrs. Charles Johnson, and clever Italian dialect readings by Miss Eunice Jones.

During the informal social hour Mrs. Slaback and her aides served pink and white brick ice cream and pink frosted cake, while dainty sweet pea napkins further emphasized the color scheme.

Judge Thomas Class

The famous Judge Thomas Bible class of the First Presbyterian church held its annual supper and social meeting at the church earlier in the week under the leadership of J. N. Osborn, and with the social committee arranging a bounteous repast.

At 7 p. m. sixty class members and friends were seated around the tables in the basement dining room, directed to their places by the class president, L. H. Martin. Table decorations were artistic in the extreme and were planned by Mrs. Osborn and her flower committee. A striking feature was the individual bouquets which rested on each linen napkin.

After chorus singing of "America," prayer was offered by the Rev. W. H. Roberts followed by the enjoyment of the appetizing dinner.

An interesting program followed, with readings, vocal numbers and piano music. Interspersed with the program were features were choruses led by Mrs. E. L. Peacock who was at the piano. These included "Let The Lower Limbs Be Burning," "The Legend of the Organ Builder" and James Whitcomb Riley's lovely "Old Sweetheart of Mine." Miss Gill was at the piano for each delightful number.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dorrington of Long Beach and Mrs. Bernard of Fullerton, a former class member.

Relief Corps

Members of the W. R. C. have been requested by their president, Mrs. Kate Sutton, to be at G. A. R. hall tomorrow morning by 10:30 o'clock or shortly after, to go in body to the Memorial day services which the Rev. F. T. Porter will conduct at the First Christian church. Each Corps member is requested to wear white and also to wear her badge.

Altar Society

There will be a meeting of the Altar society of the Church of the Messiah on Monday evening, May 26 at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Guy Gilbert, 529 South Parton street. All members are urged to be present.

Dedicatory Program Monday Afternoon For Ebell Club

Ebell members are looking eagerly forward to a genuine "homecoming" on Monday afternoon, when they will hold their first meeting in a home that is all their own.

The auditorium is not yet ready for occupancy as the chairs have not been placed, so Monday's meeting will be held in the dining room where the opening dinner was held on Thursday night. Since the seating capacity is therefore limited Ebell has regretfully limited the number of guests to one for each member. Open house will be held Monday evening, beginning at 7:30 when the clubhouse will be thrown open to the public.

All of the presidents who have so ably served Ebell from Mrs. W. S. Bartlett elected in 1894, to Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank, who will preside, will be seated upon the platform. Presidents of the federated county clubs and Mrs. E. E. Knight of Orange Linda, president of the Orange County Federation, will be honor guests.

Ebell's first year book was issued in 1897, and upon the roll appeared the following names, to whom invitations for Monday's event have been sent: Mesdames A. W. Ames, W. H. Bowers, J. W. Blee, R. J. Blee, H. R. Bristol, W. R. Crosier, Harry Dean, H. C. Daves (Florence Donahue), George Edgar, S. H. Finley, J. W. Flagg, C. E. French, J. C. Galloway, Anna Hill, M. F. Heathman, Dr. Willa Howe Waffie.

Mmes. Isaac Jewell, Elizabeth Hubbard, E. C. Jones, Maude Lacy Pierce, J. H. Lawton, James Sleeper, George Moore, J. H. Medlock, J. C. Pleasant, D. F. Pridle, I. D. Mills, Victor Montgomery, P. R. Reynolds, J. G. Quick, E. E. Smith, Grace Steadman, Florence Stone, Zittella Talbot Bacon, Josephine White Crookshank, W. E. Winslow, Rose Wilson (Mrs. Paul Shoup) Mary Wood, Elizabeth Witmer, Misses Blanche Collings, Celia Cotter, Minnie Perley, Nellie McFadden and Lida Crookshank.

Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis will direct the community singing, Mrs. F. W. Slaback and Madame Manuela Budrow will sing, and James Willis Rice, whose violin has so often charmed Ebell audiences, both in solo work and in accompaniment for the lovely voice of his mother, the late Mrs. James I. Rice, will play.

Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis will follow the program, when members and guests will be shown through the building, and refreshments will be served.

In the evening the public is asked to inspect the clubhouse. Professor Mustel's high school orchestra will furnish music, and punch will be served in the patio.

Women's Alliance

Members of the Women's Unitarian Alliance were disappointed Wednesday afternoon in not having with them at their social meeting, Mrs. O. J. Fairfield, wife of the Unitarian minister of Long Beach, who had been engaged to read to them her article entitled "Across the Country in a Ford From Long Beach to Maine."

Unable to be present, Mrs. Fairfield sent in her place, Mrs. Luce, president of the Long Beach Alliance who read the paper for her. It proved to be very interesting, each state on the journey being described in so magic a manner as to make each listener feel that her own native state was best of all.

On Thursday was held the annual picnic of the Alliance at Laguna Beach, a good number going by automobile and stage. Lunch was eaten on the rocks after which a visit was made to the home of Mrs. Heptonstall and Miss Housnell, members of the Alliance, where the picnic was furnished by young men of the party and tea and nut bread were served.

Auld Lang Syne Club

Entertained by Mrs. Walter Harper of Garden Grove, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. T. R. Cridland of Altadena, members of the Auld Lang Syne club had a most happy gathering Thursday.

The day passed rapidly with conversation, fancies and the completing of plans for the mid-year family picnic of the club to be held at Laguna Beach in July.

At noon the tables were arranged for the pot-luck luncheon with places for the hostess and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harper, Mrs. Cridland, Mrs. Harvey Newson, Mrs. Roy Oldfield, Mrs. Edward Chaffee, Mrs. John Mitchell, Garden Grove; Mrs. Fred Harrison, Peralta Hills; Mrs. Will Newson, Rivera and her guest, Mrs. Lloyd Miller of Los Angeles; Mrs. Howard Wassum, Miss Percy Head and Mrs. J. Lowell, Santa Ana, and a special guest whom the club had not greeted since childhood days, George J. Hawley, now of Los Angeles, who he is connected with the American Mortgage company.

Mr. Hawley deemed it a special privilege to take many snapshots of the guests during the afternoon, especially in an arbor in the gardens with the old schoolbell which used to call them to studies, as a background.

Other guests who dropped in during the afternoon for their friendly chat were Mary Allen Dodd of Bell; Carrie Powers Owens and Mrs. Emerson of Garden Grove.

Cooks Receive Praise For Skill Shown at Famous Dinner

Who were the cooks for such a delicious dinner?

That is a question which has been asked again and again by those who dined at the Ebell club on the night of the opening festivity connected with the dedication of the handsome new building.

The dinner, a gastronomic triumph, was so thoroughly enjoyed by everyone that it was only to be expected that curiosity would be aroused as to who really prepared it. The answer to the question revealed the excellent team-work that not only made the dinner possible but made the clubhouse itself possible.

Certain work was delegated to certain sections. One section had the preparation of the mammoth turkeys, another had the potatoes to peel, still another must shell pounds of peas, all under the direction of the section leader. And standing back of it all, with the lines radiating out from each group, gathered close in her capable hands, was Mrs. Earl Morrow, chairman of the ways and means committee, who found ways and means of calling out such cooperation and such concerted effort as to have a remarkably elaborate and delicious dinner, served deftly and quietly, with hot dishes piping hot, and cold dishes pleasantly chilled, exactly at the right time.

Going through the dinner course by course, "from soup to nuts," so to speak, mention must first be made of the table appointments and the chairs, the latter loaned by the Chandler Furniture company. Miss Rosa Boyd was responsible for details connected with them and with the linen while the lovely floral decorations were arranged by Mrs. Charles Mitchell and her efficient staff of "waitresses," opened with fruit cocktail prepared by non-section members headed by Mrs. James Harding. Remaining courses were as follows: bread and butter, Modern Drama section, Mrs. Hugh Smith, leader; turkey, Second Household Economics, Mrs. Alexander P. Nelson, leader; cranberry jelly, Fourth Travelers, Dr. Mabel Vance Tremaine, leader; mashed potatoes, Sixth Household Economics, Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis, leader; green peas, Third Household Economics, Mrs. Fred M. Robinson, leader; salad, Fifth Household Economics, Mrs. Archie V. Herr, coffee, First Travelers, Mrs. William Smart, leader, and the coffee made by Smart and Final company.

Olives were furnished by the Music section, Miss Leonora Tompkins, leader; salted nuts, Current Events, Mrs. Edwin T. McFadden, leader; candy, non-section members with Mrs. Howard Timmons, chairman, home-made cake, Second Travelers, Mrs. W. W. Anderson, leader and Fourth Household Economics, Mrs. E. E. Coulter, leader; ice cream, Modern Poetry, Mrs. Edward M. Nealey and University Study section, Mrs. Terry Stephenson, leader.

"The finest committee of all," declared Mrs. Morrow, "was the kitchen committee, where on the night of the dinner, room service was rendered by Mrs. E. L. Morrison, chairman, Mrs. Fred M. Robinson, Mrs. T. D. Knights and Mrs. W. W. Anderson."

Another important committee was that responsible for decorating the remainder of the clubhouse, the corridors, dressingrooms and bathroom, where the artistic handiwork of Mrs. J. E. Liebig and her committee. Incidentally, the handsome appearance of the lounge with its furniture in such quiet elegance and excellent taste, was due to the Chandler Furniture company which kindly loaned the many handsome pieces and put them to place for the occasion.

Mothers and Babies Enjoy Parties

Among the pleasant events of this week were the "mother and baby" parties given by two groups of the First Presbyterian church, one at the home of Mrs. Perry F. Schrock, under the leadership of Mrs. Frank O. Calkins, and the other at the home of Mrs. W. B. Tedford.

At the Schrock home, there were present fifteen children and thirty-five mothers, and a very charming program was rendered. Mrs. Arnold Peck played a lovely lullaby, Mrs. W. G. Knox sang a beautiful ballad, "Where Do You Come From, Baby Dear?" and "I'm Wearing a Flower for You, Mother." The little Flower lad, spoke several poems and Mrs. Arthur Schauer read appropriate poems.

The home was decorated with sweet peas and Cecil Brunner roses and ice cream and cake were served, each guest receiving a dainty bountiful.

Capistrano Y. L. I.

Members of Capistrano Institute, No. 104, Y. L. I., are looking forward with keen anticipation to the meeting next Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Carl Helm and her girls of the institute committee will turn back in its flight "Time" for everybody, and the girls are all planning their costumes for the big affair. Mrs. Helm refuses to tell about any of her plans for entertainment for the evening, and the mystery element will bring every girl on the membership roll.

Miss Alice Quin, the popular institute deputy of Los Angeles has promised to be present.

Los Angeles Wedding Of Keen Interest To Local Friends

Reaching home yesterday afternoon from Los Angeles where they had been wedded on the previous day, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Dove were extended a gay and friendly welcome by their relatives and friends who had arranged an extremely effective greeting in their honor.

The wedding of Mr. Dove and Miss Zella Kutnewsky on Wednesday evening in Bakersfield, where the wedding was held at the home of Mrs. Ella F. Lash, 715 East Chestnut street, and W. A. Best, prominent business man of Porterville.

Mrs. Lash left early Wednesday morning for the north, expecting to be met by Mr. Best at Bakersfield where the wedding was to be celebrated that evening. No details have yet been learned other than the mere fact that it took place according to plans perfected by the bridegroom.

While the best wishes of her many friends accompanied Mrs. Lash on her romantic journey, they were tinged with a spirit of sadness that pleasant associations in club and social circles must be broken. Members of the Santa Ana Woman's club had anticipated having her as their president during the next year, but her own plans caused her to refuse the nomination. Her standing in the club was exemplified by a gift shower which the members held in her honor recently at a delightful afternoon with Mrs. Martha Ritchey and her daughter, Miss Mattie Ritchey at their East McFadden street home.

Many other informal little affairs honored the wedding also and with a store of good wishes, Mrs. Lash had also a number of lovely gifts to take north to Porterville where a pretty home awaits her coming. Mr. Best is a prosperous cement contractor of that city.

The marriage marked the culmination of a pretty little romance which their friends have watched develop ever since the arrival of Mr. Dove from Chicago in January, to be the guest of his niece, Mrs. Otto R. Haan of 830 South Birch street. Mrs. Haan declared she had endeavored for nine years to persuade her uncle that there was no place like California, but he obstinately remained in the east until this winter. Immediately after his arrival, however, he yielded sufficiently to the charm of the southwest to purchase a lovely home at 823 South Parton street.

Soon after that decisive step, Miss Kutnewsky entered his life and seemed from the first, destined to be the logical mistress of the home. The marriage of Thursday came as a pleasure to all the friends who have watched the pretty romance.

Present at the wedding were Mrs. Haan, Mrs. F. L. Dazey, a sister of Mr. Dove, Mrs. M. Graves, an aunt of the bride and two close friends from Miss Kutnewsky's home city of Peoria, Ill., Miss Gladys Donovan and Miss Grace Bowler who are spending the winter in Los Angeles.

The decorations which greeted the return of the happy couple yesterday were not the massed flowers which usually greet a bride, but instead were old shoes, a clothes line filled with an amazing assortment of garments and many placards bearing such messages as "The Dove season is now open" and other clever plays on the name of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Dove will make their home in Santa Ana and will devote the summer to variations of their northward trip, planning to motor westward as far as San Francisco with stops at Santa Barbara and other interesting points, a southern trip to San Diego and Tijuana and some time spent at Catalina.

Current Events

Tuesday's meeting of the Current Events section of Ebell society will be held at the El Toro home of Mrs. Harvey Bennett instead of with Mrs. George Osterman as was erroneously announced. Members are eagerly anticipating the luncheon which the two El Toro members will present at the Bennett country home, and individually, are planning to notify Mrs. Osterman by Monday noon as to their intention of being present.

Aid Society

The Southwest section of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church held their regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Plavan at her pleasant Thursday afternoon. Much business was transacted and such an enjoyable time was experienced that it was decided to continue the regular meetings of this section throughout the summer months. Several new members were received.

Wedding Details Are Eagerly Awaited By Santa Anans

Hosts of friends are eagerly awaiting details of the wedding on Wednesday evening in Bakersfield of Mrs. Ella F. Lash, 715 East Chestnut street, and W. A. Best, prominent business man of Porterville.

Mrs. Lash left early Wednesday morning for the north, expecting to be met by Mr. Best at Bakersfield where the wedding was to be celebrated that evening. No details have yet been learned other than the mere fact that it took place according to plans perfected by the bridegroom.

Sheriff's Aide Cited as Motor Statute Breaker

Even an under-sheriff is not immune from sin.

Today Under-Sheriff Ed French was attempting to muster up sufficient courage to face City Recorder W. F. Heathman on a charge of violating the city automobile parking ordinance. Sheriff Sam Jennings' chief assistant had parked his car across a white parking line painted on a downtown street, and when French returned to his machine he found a red card tied to his steering wheel, inviting him to appear before Recorder Heathman.

OCEANSIDE PLANS SPUDDING-IN FETE

Visioning potential wealth, all Northern Santa Diego county and the city of Oceanside, in particular, will move to the dome of the Shelby Dunn tract Sunday, when the countryside's first oil well is to be spudded in, persons in Santa Ana who are interested were advised today.

The affair has taken on a community aspect, it was learned, as a barbecue is to be featured and the president of the Chamber of Commerce is to preside.

Denies Guilt in Oil Supply Theft Case

Accused of having stolen oil well equipment and supplies to the value of $1134, Phares L. Book of Harbor City, will go on trial in the superior court here June 15, at 10 a. m. it was made known today.

Book pleaded not guilty to a charge of grand larceny when arraigned late yesterday before Superior Judge F. C. Drumm, who fixed the date of trial.

Book is accused in connection with the looting of an oil well on Irvine ranch. He was connected with the case, it was claimed, with a portion of the supplies located at Harbor City.

Theft Case Man In Bail Default

Julius Lundell, who was recently captured by local police officers when attempting, it was alleged, to loot the offices of Dr. J. I. Clark in this city, today was held in the county jail here in default of $500 bail, he having been held for trial on a burglary charge at his preliminary examination late yesterday before Justice Jack Landell. Lundell offered no defense at the hearing yesterday.

STOCK OF GOODS IS CRUX OF SUIT

Whether a mortgage upon a merchant's stock of goods can be foreclosed, or is void, was one of the propositions scheduled to be presented Monday in the superior court here at the trial of Ward V. Hannum's suit against R. C. Shields, proprietor of the Orange Book store at Orange.

Hannum, city water superintendent at Anaheim, brought suit upon a note and mortgage for $1450, covering the fixtures and stock of the book store.

One of the chief points made by the defense, in answering the complaint, was that the mortgage is void so far as it concerns what the defense terms a "merchant's stock in trade."

As another feature of the case, which is scheduled to come before Superior Judge Z. B. West at 10 a. m. Monday, the action takes the form of a "friendly" suit against Edwin S. Palmister and Jay Palmister, father-in-law and brother-in-law, respectively, of Hannum.

The Palmisters, former owners of the book store, were original makers of the note to Hannum. Subsequently they sold the store to Shields, who assumed the mortgage.

Attorney L. F. Coburn represented Hannum in the action, Attorney Clyde Bishop appearing for the defense.

JR. CHAMBER FETE PLANS COMPLETED

Everything is in readiness for the first big social event of Santa Ana's Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by William Iverson, Carl Mock and E. M. Sundquist, who have been completing details for Monday night's excursion, banquet and dance. The excursion and dance are to be free.

The Junior and their families and friends will meet in front of the city hall at 4 p. m. Monday. After a parade through the city, the procession will continue to the Newport Harbor Yacht club, where boats will be provided by the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

After an excursion over the bay, a banquet will be held at the Yacht club. Officers are to be installed. An entertainment will follow, and at 9 p. m. the diners will proceed to the Balboa dancing pavilion.

Orange Students Will Tour Harbor

A special committee, consisting of J. A. Beek, George T. Peabody, L. L. Carrigues, E. A. Gill, L. W. Briggs and J. P. Greeley of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, today announced plans for entertaining the graduating class of the Orange high school, which will visit Newport Bay Monday. The students will make a tour of inspection of the bay and will be told of the plans for harbor development. The 125 pupils are expected to attend and will meet at the Balboa pavilion at 2:30 p. m. for the tour over the bay, as guests of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce. The chamber has extended an invitation to the members of the graduating classes of the various high schools throughout the county and the Orange high school is the first to take advantage of the invitation, according to Harry Welch, secretary of the Harbor Chamber.

How This Woman Got Strength

Put Up 300 Quarts Fruit, 500 Glasses Jelly and Took Care of Four Children

Norwalk, Ia.—"I have been meaning for some time to write and tell you how much good your medicine has done me.

When I started to take it I was almost bed fast and would have been in bed all the time if I had had any one to care for my children. There was so much swelling and pain that I could hardly take a step. I took seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and found that so healing. I am not entirely well yet for I was in bad shape when I started your medicine, but I am so much better that I am not afraid to recommend it, and I think if I keep on taking it, it will cure me. I have done my work all alone this summer, caring for four children, and I canned 300 quarts of fruit and made 500 glasses of jelly, so you see I must be better. I feel pretty good all the time and I am glad to tell others about the medicine."—Mrs. C. J. WENNER, MARK, Box 141, Norwalk, Iowa.

Women can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Five News From Orange County Towns

ALL BUILDING RECORDS AT HARBOR GO

Permits So Far Total More Than Quarter Million; May Banner Month

NEWPORT BEACH, May 24.—Furling ahead as the fastest growing section of Orange county, Newport Beach broke all building records for the last 25 years, when permits passed the quarter of a million mark, according to estimates furnished today by J. A. Porter, city license and tax collector.

The first four and a half months of 1924 exceeded $50,000 the total building done in 1923, then the banner year for this locality, while the first twenty days of May, totaling $40,000 in permits issued, has broken every record for any previous May in the city's history.

Remarkable Building Record. More than 125 new buildings have been erected or are under way in Newport Beach, starting from January 1. Last year more than 300 new structures were put up, and while it is believed this number will be equalled this year, the outstanding feature of the new buildings erected this year is that they are of better construction and much larger.

While figures are not available for Costa Mesa, the area outside the city limits of Newport Beach, but a part of the Orange county harbor district, it is known that new houses are going up in almost as large a volume as in the incorporated section. Estimates furnished by lumber and material dealers show that about 75 houses at a cost of $50,000 have been built on the Mesa since the first of this year, while building for 1923 in that section amounted to about $200,000.

"While much of the growth of this section is due to prospective harbor development," stated Mr. Porter, "I believe a considerable amount of the building has come through improvements made by the city during the last two years, when about $1,000,000 was spent in paving, sewer, ornamental street lights and development of the domestic water system. Just now more than a quarter of a million dollars in public improvements is under way on 'The Peninsula,' a large tract of land on what is known as 'The Point' a mile below Balboa at the end of the sandspit. The entire section is being paved, a sanitary sewer, street lights and a domestic water system are being installed, while many new houses are being built."

"Hundreds of Los Angeles, Pasadena, Hollywood, Long Beach, Riverside, Redlands, Pomona, San Bernardino and other smaller town citizens have their number of homes here, and their number is steadily increasing. Indications point to the best season here for many years."

HERE'S LATE NEWS FROM COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, May 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Eastman, Roy King, and Mrs. Kelly Anderson spent several days this week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Partlow of El Segundo. They made the trip especially to see their new niece, Miss Glenna June Partlow.

Twelve members of the Junior Teachers circle passed the first test to be given them with flying colors Wednesday afternoon, when they gathered at the home of Mrs. James Gallagher. Two of the members received a grade of 100 per cent on the list of thirty questions and there was no grade below ninety-three per cent.

Among those to take the test were Mrs. James Gallagher, Mrs. Donald Gibson, Mrs. William Kerr, Mrs. M. E. Hulbert, Mrs. A. J. Clark, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. S. Dale, Mrs. John H. Engle, Mrs. Dorothy Allemen, and Mrs. W. H. Cole, teacher.

L. R. Daughenbaugh of Los Angeles has accepted a position as assistant manager of the local bank under Roy Davis. Davis recently came here from Riverside. Mr. Daughenbaugh plans to bring his family here and make this town his permanent home.

A large number of local people have been spending their evenings at the beach recently hunting grunion. Several good catches of the small fish were caught.

72 YEAR OLD NEWPORT MAN TAKES BRIDE OF 66 YEARS; BOTH HAVE GROWN CHILDREN

NEWPORT BEACH, May 24.—W. H. Comstock, 72-year-old youth, today is receiving the congratulations of his old friends, as he introduces his bride, Mary J. Garrison, aged 66, of Bismarck, Ark.

The wedding took place at Tombstone, Arizona, on May 15, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Otto J. Schriebe. After a short honeymoon the two returned to Newport Beach, where Mr. Comstock is one of the city's leading merchants. The bride was a widow and the bridegroom a widower.

"I first became acquainted with my wife through mutual friends," said Mr. Comstock with a smile, "and we have been writing back and forth. We both have grown children, who are glad that we are happy together at our time of life."

Both bride and groom look considerably younger than their ages indicate. Mrs. Comstock owns a ranch near Willcox, Ariz., while Mr. Comstock, who came here three years ago, conducts a tackle and general merchandise store. They will make their home at Newport.

SUNSET BEACH DETERMINED TO GET GAS

SUNSET BEACH, May 24.—Because the Southern Counties Gas company gave an unsatisfactory reply to a petition asking installation of gas service in the Sunset Beach district, the petitioners announced today they would carry their appeal direct to the State Railroad Commission with the request that the gas company be directed to extend its lines in order that Sunset Beach may be properly served with fuel.

The campaign to get gas here has been under way for some time, and those behind the movement declare they will not cease their efforts until the installation has been made. Some of the advocates of the improvement are prepared to go before the State Commission in backing their demand, it is said.

WESTMINSTER FARMERS ARE CHEERFUL

WESTMINSTER, May 24.—Farmers in the vicinity of Westminster are hopeful of much better crops than the recent dry season promised. Several are now cutting alfalfa, and the yield in most places is fully up to normal. On some ranches it is even heavier than the average. The sugar beet crop, which at one time looked like a total failure, is looking very promising.

WHEELING, W. Va., May 23.—Council has passed unanimously the city's first ordinance regulating erection of radio aerials. The ordinance requires a city permit before a resident may install a set.

The new regulations say antenna shall not cross over or under electric light or power wires carrying 500 or more volts, and all possibility of contact must be avoided.

Lead-in wires must be avoided, copper, not smaller than No. 14 gauge. Lightning protectors are required, and these must not be placed near gases, dust or other articles that are readily ignitable.

Gin gets its name from the French "genieve," for juniper.

SHAKESPEARE PLAY TO BE PRESENTED

ORANGE, May 24.—Thursday evening, May 29, is the date set for the presentation of the Senior play of the Orange Union High school. The play "Twelfth Night" or "As You Will" is a Shakespearean drama. It has become practically a custom at the Orange High school for the senior class to put on a Shakespearean play. Last year "The Taming of the Shrew" was given, and it was a decided success.

A month or two ago the cast for "Twelfth Night" was chosen, and rehearsals have been going on steadily.

The leading role of Lady Olivia, a beautiful young Italian girl, is taken by Edith Lush. The part of Duke Orsino is portrayed by Robert Newhouse. The Duke is very much in love with the fair Olivia, but Olivia does not return the affection.

Elaine Zellar is cast as Viola, who after being shipwrecked, decides to dress as a man and seek work at the court of Duke Orsino. Of course when the real brother appears, Sebastian, acted by Margaret Gilchrist, some rather interesting situations arise.

The complete cast is: Duke Orsino.....Robert Newhouse; Lady Olivia.....Edith Lush; Viola.....Elaine Zellar; Sir Toby.....Elmer Nichols; Sir Andrew Aguechuk.....Frances Hallman; Sebastian.....Margaret Gilchrist; Court Fool.....Marjorie Thomson; Marie, the servant.....Opal Robertson; Antonio, a sea captain.....Antonio.

Fabian.....La Verne Browne; Valentine.....Clarence Alden; Court Officer.....Northrop Ellis and Leonard Fields.

ANAHEIM, May 24.—Where prospectors have sought in vain for many years to find the source of free gold carried down by the little stream which runs out of Little Horsethief canyon in the mountains back of San Bernardino, they have discovered the source of the constantly appearing flakes of gold which prospectors have been panning from the stream for many years, and plan to put modern placer methods to work with one of the largest outfits in the state.

It was intimated by both of the prospectors that they had been approached by Los Angeles and San Francisco companies to put hydraulic machinery into the field to take out the gold in the most efficient manner possible, but thus far had reached no decision as to how the claims would be handled to develop them to the greatest extent.

Washington has been showing friends a small bottle filled with flakes of free gold—the result of four or five hours' work with an old-time miner's pan in the stream on the claims.

Significant of the futile search of the prospectors in the past for the riches at the source of the placer gold, is the name "Overlook Claims." Even the canyon in which the property is located is rich with stories of early days in the Southland when horse-stealing was the worst crime in the category and hardy, reckless souls banded together and engaged in this lawless but profitable pastime, finally coming to a violent death at the hands of a posse of irate ranchers near the scene of "Overlook Claims."

It is expected that the ore will prove up from one to twenty dollars a ton. It is hoped to put in hydraulic machinery to handle at least 500 tons a day.

EL MODENA, May 24.—Edith Culter came home Wednesday to attend the church dinner and meet her friend, Miss Ethel Higgins, who is assistant superintendent of the Chinese Rescue Home at San Francisco where Miss Culter was employed a few years ago. Miss Higgins was the guest of Mrs. Culter Wednesday.

Mr. Robert Mapson is suffering from blood poison infection in his left hand.

The Women's Missionary society met with Mrs. Culter Thursday. After a delightful dinner the regular work of the society was commenced. The members decided to hold an all day sewing of the third Thursday of each month, the sewing room of the Lincoln school being the place of meeting. Any person needing help should apply to Mrs. Hodson, chairman of the sewing committee.

The program of the meeting consisted of reviews of the Home Mission Study book, "The Child and America's Future." The book was reviewed by sections, Mrs. Culter and Read each giving one section. The author gives credit to the churches and charitable institutions for what has been done for America's babies, but while hundreds have been saved thousands are still slaughtered by neglect and ignorance.

Members present were Mesdames Granger, Workman, Blanchard, Haines, Brickett, Lutz, Sharer, Carter, McCollum, Dollard, Dozier, Culter, and Read.

DEVOTED TO DEAD. PEKIN, May 24.—Poverty-stricken in the long absence of her husband, a young Chinese woman recently sold her 5-year-old daughter for $30, and used the proceeds to bury her mother-in-law, according to Peking police records. The husband many months ago joined one of the army divisions in Hupeh.

REST IS SOUGHT. By Realtor At Mountain Resort

NEWPORT BEACH, May 24.—W. A. Irwin, one of the best known realtors in Southern California, is suffering a nervous breakdown, and has been taken to a resort on Mt. Baldy to recuperate. Mr. Irwin fell in a faint from his car several days ago, pitching out onto the highway, and barely escaped death from passing cars, before he was picked up.

Mr. Irwin is known as the man who never sleeps, and his Owl pictures and slogans are known all over Southern California. He came here several years ago from Long Beach and in the last four years has built more than 200 houses, while he is just completing the Irwin block, a handsome two-story building on the Ocean front, Newport. The tremendous strain he has been under, has been responsible for his breakdown.

ANAHEIM MEN CLAIM GOLD MINE FOUND

ANAHEIM, May 24.—Where prospectors have sought in vain for many years to find the source of free gold carried down by the little stream which runs out of Little Horsethief canyon in the mountains back of San Bernardino, they have discovered the source of the constantly appearing flakes of gold which prospectors have been panning from the stream for many years, and plan to put modern placer methods to work with one of the largest outfits in the state.

Significant of the futile search of the prospectors in the past for the riches at the source of the placer gold, is the name "Overlook Claims." Even the canyon in which the property is located is rich with stories of early days in the Southland when horse-stealing was the worst crime in the category and hardy, reckless souls banded together and engaged in this lawless but profitable pastime, finally coming to a violent death at the hands of a posse of irate ranchers near the scene of "Overlook Claims."

It is expected that the ore will prove up from one to twenty dollars a ton. It is hoped to put in hydraulic machinery to handle at least 500 tons a day.

EL MODENA, May 24.—Edith Culter came home Wednesday to attend the church dinner and meet her friend, Miss Ethel Higgins, who is assistant superintendent of the Chinese Rescue Home at San Francisco where Miss Culter was employed a few years ago. Miss Higgins was the guest of Mrs. Culter Wednesday.

Mr. Robert Mapson is suffering from blood poison infection in his left hand.

The Women's Missionary society met with Mrs. Culter Thursday. After a delightful dinner the regular work of the society was commenced. The members decided to hold an all day sewing of the third Thursday of each month, the sewing room of the Lincoln school being the place of meeting. Any person needing help should apply to Mrs. Hodson, chairman of the sewing committee.

The program of the meeting consisted of reviews of the Home Mission Study book, "The Child and America's Future." The book was reviewed by sections, Mrs. Culter and Read each giving one section. The author gives credit to the churches and charitable institutions for what has been done for America's babies, but while hundreds have been saved thousands are still slaughtered by neglect and ignorance.

Members present were Mesdames Granger, Workman, Blanchard, Haines, Brickett, Lutz, Sharer, Carter, McCollum, Dollard, Dozier, Culter, and Read.

DEVOTED TO DEAD. PEKIN, May 24.—Poverty-stricken in the long absence of her husband, a young Chinese woman recently sold her 5-year-old daughter for $30, and used the proceeds to bury her mother-in-law, according to Peking police records. The husband many months ago joined one of the army divisions in Hupeh.

Rest Is Sought By Realtor At Mountain Resort

NEWPORT BEACH, May 24.—W. A. Irwin, one of the best known realtors in Southern California, is suffering a nervous breakdown, and has been taken to a resort on Mt. Baldy to recuperate. Mr. Irwin fell in a faint from his car several days ago, pitching out onto the highway, and barely escaped death from passing cars, before he was picked up.

Mr. Irwin is known as the man who never sleeps, and his Owl pictures and slogans are known all over Southern California. He came here several years ago from Long Beach and in the last four years has built more than 200 houses, while he is just completing the Irwin block, a handsome two-story building on the Ocean front, Newport. The tremendous strain he has been under, has been responsible for his breakdown.

ANAHEIM MEN CLAIM GOLD MINE FOUND

ANAHEIM, May 24.—Where prospectors have sought in vain for many years to find the source of free gold carried down by the little stream which runs out of Little Horsethief canyon in the mountains back of San Bernardino, they have discovered the source of the constantly appearing flakes of gold which prospectors have been panning from the stream for many years, and plan to put modern placer methods to work with one of the largest outfits in the state.

It was intimated by both of the prospectors that they had been approached by Los Angeles and San Francisco companies to put hydraulic machinery into the field to take out the gold in the most efficient manner possible, but thus far had reached no decision as to how the claims would be handled to develop them to the greatest extent.

Washington has been showing friends a small bottle filled with flakes of free gold—the result of four or five hours' work with an old-time miner's pan in the stream on the claims.

LIQUOR CHARGE RESULTS IN $300 FINE

NEWPORT BEACH, May 24.—Falling in the bay, thus causing him to get a severe chill, and, therefore, the necessity for a warming drink, resulted in a loss of $300 in fines to E. L. Eubanks this week. It was not Eubanks, however, who fell in the cool waters of Orange county's harbor, but Walter Pandergast, employed on the dredger, according to his testimony before a jury in City Recorder Byron Hall's court.

Eubanks was arrested April 28 at Balboa on the charge of selling liquor for beverage purposes without a permit. He demanded a jury trial and the case was set for May 19. He was represented by Charles D. Swanner of Santa Ana, while the city was represented by its city attorney, Clyde Bishop.

According to Pandergast, after his involuntary bath, he went to the house of Eubanks, and then later to another house, where officers, it was said, found a party ready to take a drink. According to the testimony of Deputy J. S. Welsh, Pandergast told where the liquor had been procured and that he gave a check for it. This check was produced in evidence, having been seized at the Eubanks house, it was stated.

Eubanks denied that the liquor came from his house and testified that the check was given for other purposes. His attorney declared that no evidence had been introduced to show that Eubanks had sold liquor to Pandergast. The jury, however, brought in a verdict of guilty and the court sentenced the defendant to 150 days in jail or a fine of $300, which Eubanks promised to raise.

Those on the jury were W. A. Irwin, Glenn Helms, William Urick, Frank Claudina, Elmer Cubbons, J. H. Bell, H. C. Cushing, E. G. Walker, G. H. Utz, C. D. Moore, G. H. Cornell, L. W. Briggs.

DAY NURSERY AT BEACH IS URGED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 24.—The establishment of a day nursery on the beach directly west of the bath house here will be taken up at the next meeting of the city trustees, it was thought here today following the recent action taken on the subject by the local Red Cross. According to reports, it is the plan to make the nursery a municipal affair, where mothers from other cities may "check" their children as they do in the larger department stores in Los Angeles.

"This action on the part of this city will be a drawing card for mothers who like to spend a few hours on the beach," it was pointed out by members of the committee recently appointed to look into the matter. L. R. Ridenour, president of the board of trustees, is drawing the plans for the building. The structure will contain a large play room and a sand pile on the interior and will be entirely surrounded by a large porch enclosed with heavy glass and screens which will keep out the wind and rain.

It is estimated that the building will cost about $5000. The city will also be asked to provide suitable caretakers and attendants to be in charge of the building and children at all times. According to several of the members on the committee this will be the only day nursery of its kind on the beach in Southern California. Mrs. Lynn M. Robb, Mrs. R. E. Arundell, Mrs. T. B. Talbert, T. B. Talbert, J. H. Macklin and A. Onson are members of the committee of the local Red Cross hard at work on the proposition.

Nephew Separated From Aunt Returns After Many Years

WESTMINSTER, May 24.—James Cooper, oil worker at Long Beach, is the son of Mrs. H. O. Chamberlain's only brother. He grew up in Dexter, Mo., part of the time being spent with Mrs. Chamberlain. In some way, she lost track of him, and not having heard from him for nearly twenty-one years, she believed him dead.

Yesterday his delighted "Hello, Auntie," greeted her as she went about her work. He had lost her address, too, and just found that she was living in Westminster, and immediately went to look her up.

RADIO FOR EDUCATION, SUGGESTED

By NEA Service
MADISON, Wis., May 24—Establishment of radio broadcasting stations by universities, for the dissemination of learning by wireless, was recommended by Prof. W. H.
Lighty of the University of Wisconsin at the meeting of the National University Extension Association, just held here.

This recommendation was made after a survey in which Prof.
Lighty reports he found a general lack of radio interest and knowledge among educators, despite its growing hold upon the younger generation.

"The impression gained from a study of tabulated replies indicates far less understanding and interest among persons engaged in educational work than one was wont to assume," Lighty reports upon a questionnaire he sent to educators in Wisconsin.

"Perhaps this reflects something lacking in a desirable radio audience or listening constituency to make university broadcasting wholly satisfactory," he adds. But he points to the hold it has taken on American boyhood of today.

"Radio communication constitutes one of the outstanding inventions that is destined to profoundly change our social institutions," Lighty says. "The radio once again buttresses home and family influences. In my boyhood the fireside lure may have been Arabian Nights, but now for my boy it is Radio nights."

"The public school system of a great city, the municipal or the state university and likewise all national universities or private foundations that recognize obligations for service to the times, should have the opportunity to serve their contemporary constituencies with such light and leading as the radio broadcast can freely supply."

"Numerous broadcasting stations in institutions of learning co-operating with one another or supplementing one another may make contributions of inestimable value in the happiness and progress of mankind."

TUBES IN PLACE OF TROPHIES

By HAROLD B. MATSON
NEA Service Writer

BOSTON, May 24—From tennis to radio—and always a champion.
Before the days of radio, Edith E.
Rotch of this city was driving her way to triumph on the tennis court, winning many an important title.
Today she enjoys the distinction of being a radio champion—that is, she is one of the few women amateurs who have been granted a special license to transmit, with privilege of operating on special wave-length for experimental work.
At her home silver trophies, plaques and medals are being crowded from sight by loops, receiving sets, transmitters and their accompanying apparatus, not to speak of certificates and diplomas which testify to her accomplishments in radio.

Miss Rotch first became interested in radio in 1917, when she felt the urge to engage in war work.
After completing a four-months course in a radio school here, she passed government examinations and was employed as an inspector in the American Radio plant at Medford, Mass. It was her task to test radio sets before they were packed for shipment to the war zone.

Taught Amateurs
However, the ending of the war did not end her activities in radio.
Besides continuing experimental work at home, she took up instructing radio students in a Boston school.

Among the amateurs, Miss Rotch has been known by her call IRO, but now with her new license, lifting her above the amateur class, her call is 1ZR.

Her transmitter is a set using the 1DH circuit and a 50-watt tube, and her working receiver is a 3-tube radio-audio-frequency set, hooked to a six-wire loop. Sometimes she connects it with her transmitter cage antennae to clarify and soften the tone. Her apparatus includes a DC motor generator and a competent amplifier.

Athletic Record
In the tennis world Miss Rotch is known for the singles titles she won in Cleveland, Baltimore, the Virginia Hot Springs tournament, Middle States championship, and Chevy Chase. In doubles she played in the national tournaments with May Sutton and Mary Brown.
Once in the national singles it looked like Miss Rotch was to be champion. But May Sutton was playing a superior game that year and conquered the Boston girl.

Besides tennis and radio, Miss Rotch also has won fame for her

SUGGESTION OF S. A. MAN FOR ROAD SAFETY IS ADOPTED

Escondido Chamber Passes Resolution Urging Line Down Highway Center

WOULD WARN DRIVERS

Similar Ordinances Urged Be Endorsed By Every C. of C. In State

The Escondido Chamber of Commerce has picked up a suggestion by Walter N. Vandermaast, of this city, that safety of the highways would be increased by a white or black line down the center of the pavement, and has passed resolutions favoring a state-wide movement for making the recommendation effective, it became known here today.

The chamber also makes the recommendation that similar resolutions be adopted by every Chamber of Commerce in the state.

In view of the fact that the boost body of Escondido has approved the suggestion of a Santa Ana man, and in view of the importance and value of the movement inaugurated by the body, the resolutions are given herewith in full, as follows:

Here's Resolution.

"Whereas, in view of the many frightful accidents occurring on our thoroughfares and boulevards almost daily, leaving in their wake a train of helpless little ones, dependent on the tender mercies of a none too generous world, and

"Whereas, in our opinion every safeguard should be thrown around those whose business interests compel them to travel on our crowded thoroughfares where the dangers lurk, and believing that a center line, marking the exact division of the road would materially lessen the number of accidents, and relieve the mental strain from the driver:

"Therefore, be it resolved that the directors of the Escondido Chamber of Commerce, in the regular session, go on record as favoring a state-wide movement to have a well defined center line placed on all our state and county highways wherever it is possible to maintain the same, such action to be taken as soon as it is compatible with economy and accuracy."

Santa Ana Man Is Secretary.

D. W. McDannald, a former booster for Santa Ana and Orange county as an employee of the Santa Ana Chamber and of the board of supervisors, is secretary of the chamber at Escondido.

Vandermaast's suggestion was given publicity recently in the automobile section of the Santa Ana Register in an editorial by the County Park Is Open But Not Points Beyond

With Orange county park again reopened to the public, A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner, today issued a warning to the general public that travel is not permitted in Santiago canyon to points beyond the park. Persons living in the canyon above the playground may travel at will. Permits are required by others who may have special business or special reasons for driving beyond the point.

Brock stated that no other mountain points in the county had been released from the hoof and mouth quarantine regulations.

PREDICTS ROAD CONSTRUCTION WILL CHANGE

Tremendous changes in roads and road development will take place within the next ten or fifteen years, in the opinion of H. A. Shugart, of Shugart and Son, local Franklin agents.

"Registration of motor vehicles in this country now exceeds 15,000,000 and the number is increasing rapidly each year," Shugart said. "Room must be found on the roads for these cars to travel safely."

"Safe driving, moreover, will be the rule. There will be overhead crossings wherever main roads cross. Railroad grade crossings will gradually be eliminated. The good work of automobile clubs in placing warning signs on bad curves and hills, will be extended to remote sections. Roads will be adequately policed by uniformed traffic officers."

"Heaviest volume of travel will naturally continue to flow over trunk highways. This will eventually bring about one way traffic over parallel roads and also the construction of roads built around all the larger cities for the accommodation of through traffic. Probably, too, separate roads will be provided for trucks. Finally, development of latent water power of the country, now only tapped, will make possible cheap electricity and consequent illumination of roads at night."

WORRY POLITICIANS

BERLIN, May 24.—German women have had a taste of politics and like it and now have dreams of becoming a dominating power," said Count von Reventlow, candidate for the new reichstag in Schleswig, in a campaign speech recently. "But we do not want to see them rule Germany and will not permit them to oust the men as governors." The speech was cheered loudly by the men.

HEADLIGHT LAW CAMPAIGN IS CONTINUED

1000 Citations Daily Is Average For State Says Division Chief Marsh

Approximately 20,000 violators of headlight provisions of the California motor vehicle act have been nabbed by officers operating under the direction of the division of motor vehicles since the anti-glare headlight campaign was launched on May 1, according to announcement today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division.

Reports made to the division by officers operating at various points throughout the state show an approximate average of 1,000 citations daily since the campaign started, it was stated. As rapidly as violators are caught they are being instructed to have their lights adjusted at one of the 1500 official adjusting stations the division is maintaining. Marsh declared only a small percentage of motorists had failed to heed the citations handed them.

"A large share of persons found with faulty lights were driving in ignorance of this condition and were only too glad to be told that their lights did not comply with the law," said Marsh. Our officers have been instructed to be courteous at all times as this primarily is a campaign of education. We are giving all motorists 24 hours to have their lights adjusted. The few cases discovered of failure to obey instructions are being handled by bench warrants issued for the arrest of such violators as there can be no excuse for their continuing to drive with faulty lights.

Marsh today instructed the traffic officers to carry the campaign to daylight hours. This will take the form of a check-up of machines for rusty reflectors, broken lenses and such other defects as may be discovered in daytime.

Cooper Thrills Railbirds With Burst of Speed

Earl Cooper, in his new Studebaker special, is giving the railbirds at the speedway at Indianapolis, Ind., a thrill these days in the early speed trials for the annual international 500-mile race, May 30, according to word received here by Potter Bowles, local Studebaker distributor.

"Cracking off five laps at an average speed of 100.3 miles an hour in his first try-out, Cooper demonstrated what a clean pair of heels the little Studebaker special has, when Mayor Lew Shank headed a delegation welcoming the veteran driver," said Bowles.

"This was the first time, in recent years, that Indianapolis has given a municipal reception to an arriving Speedway contestant. The occasion was in honor of Studebaker."

"For it is the first time that The Studebaker corporation's house flag will flutter from the track pits, when the thirty-one speed busses scuttle across the line at 10 o'clock on the morning of the great annual gasoline derby."

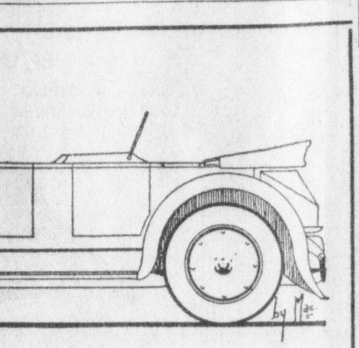

CONTEST BEAUTIES POSE WITH LINCOLN AT LAGUNA BEACH

Donkeys belong to yesteryear, automobiles belong to today, but pretty girls, like the ocean, belong to the ages—and here we have in the lower picture Jason, the donkey, Laguna Beach Cliffs, a handsome seven-passenger Lincoln automobile, furnished by George Dunton, local Ford and Lincoln dealer, and the peaceful Pacific, all as a background for four Santa Ana maidens entered in the beauty contest being conducted here by Santa Ana lodge No. 1025, L. O. O. M. Standing by the "motive power" of former years is Miss Edna Chilcoat, whose charm was said by Jack Fisher, Register artist, to have been largely responsible for the "brute" standing still long enough to permit Photographer E. H. Boden to snap the picture. The other fair contestants standing by the running board are, left to right, Miss Margaret Smith, who recently completed her studies at the Santa Ana high school; Miss Bonnie Sitten, whose musical voice is known to patrons of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, by which she is employed here as an operator, and Miss Mae Walsworth, who assists County Clerk J. M. Backs in keeping correctly court and other records of the county. In the upper picture, the sea nymphs and the Lincoln are shown by the rugged bluffs bordering Fisherman's cove at Laguna Beach.

TOURIST LAUDS NASH AS LONG JAUNT ENDS

Three thousand nine hundred and ninety-four miles without a mechanical adjustment of any kind except the installation of a new fan belt, is the unique transcontinental record made by R. A. McKinnon, New York broker, who arrived in Santa Ana this week as part of a general swing he is making through the southwest, according to W. C. May, of the May Motor company, local Nash distributor.

McKinnon's car was a Nash coupe, 1920 model, and had a total of 20,000 miles on the speedometer before he left New York for Los Angeles. Excellent gas and oil mileage was reported to the May Motor company and when the Nash rolled into Southern California two of the tires still held undiluted New York air.

"McKinnon was accompanied by W. C. Spears of New York City, realty man," said May. "The two are now taking a sight-seeing trip through Southern California, Arizona and Nevada, having just finished a run to San Francisco and Yosemite. They expressed high admiration for Santa Ana and indicated that there is a possibility of settling here and entering business."

"At least half the distance between New York City and the Pacific coast is now paved, according to McKinnon, who traveled the entire distance from New York to St. Louis over paved highways. Missouri roads, he said, seemed the worst, while Kansas—which formerly was the tourist's bugaboo—now offers over two hundred miles of east-west concrete on the transcontinental highway."

Interested in the contest here for selecting one of Orange county's fairest women to represent the community in the national beauty contest at New York, under the auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose, George Dunton, local distributor for the Lincoln and Ford automobiles, this week offered a Lincoln seven passenger touring car and Fisherman's cove at Laguna Beach as the background for presentation of four of the local entrants in the county contest.

The charm, comfort and the easy riding qualities of the Lincoln were unknown to the four contestants until they were accorded the privilege of a swift run in the Dunton car to the pretty beach to pose for the picture presented.

"She's a beauty," said Miss Mae Walsworth, a member of the party, when first shown the new car. "It is a wonderful easy riding car and is replete with refinements and conveniences for driver and occupants," she added at the conclusion of the trip.

"The Lincoln touring car not only combines beauty and character, but it has a wide range of usefulness," commented Dunton. Then he pointed out to the Orange county beauties that the machine's upholstery is in hand-buffed, long grain, black leather.

"In outer appearance, Lincoln motor cars are characterized by beauty and true refinement," Dunton said. "The eight standard body types are individual in appeal and so diversified in design as to meet virtually all requirements of taste or preference, while a choice of standard Lincoln colors adds a further touch of individuality."

AUTOMOBILE AS COUNTRY CLUB NEED TOLD

BY FRED C. CHANDLER
(President, The Chandler Motor Car Company)

The country club, as it exists today, is one of the most striking examples of the influence that the automobile has had over American life and habits.

What would the country club be without the auto?

The answer is, "It wouldn't!"

Of course, country clubs came before automobiles, but they were different from the clubs of today. The old time club was limited in its activities by the very fact that it was situated in the country. Sites were chosen not for their beauty and suitability, but because of their accessibility to

AUTO ACCIDENT CASES RESULT FATALLY FOR SIX DURING EARLY MAY

Record of Few Deaths Here Spoiled By Grim Reaper Toll In 3 Weeks

YEAR MARK STILL LOW

Credit Jail Term Policy As Responsible For County Decrease

BY HORACE FINE
(Register Automobile Editor)

Six fatalities from automobile accidents in the first three weeks of May today had stepped into what promised to be a record year for Orange county in the minimum number of deaths from this cause.

According to records of Coroner C. D. Brown, there had been only seven deaths in the previous four months, and indications pointed to a very low record for the county for 1924. There have been thirteen fatalities to date. If this ratio is maintained throughout the year, the total by the end of the year will be only approximately 50 per cent of the list for 1923, when fifty lives were lost.

The double killing Sunday night at the state highway crossing of the Pacific Electric line near La Habra was the only accident since the first of the year in which two lives were lost.

An even fifty persons died in Orange county in 1923 from injuries received in motor vehicle accidents. There have been newspaper discussions as to why the list should have been so large in face of the policy of Justice J. B. Cox in sending to jail motorists convicted of speeding forty-five miles an hour or faster. The justice did not inaugurate this policy, which came as the result of a series of fatal accidents, until near the close of the year.

Credit Given Justice

Credit is being given the justice for the large decrease over last year in fatal accidents. It is possible that light travel on the highways because of quarantine regulations also may have had its influence.

The epidemic of fatal accidents this month began at Anaheim, May 2, when Emery Salter was killed when pinned underneath his automobile which had overturned. This was followed May 3 by the accident at the corner of Camille and Tenth streets, this city, when Fred L. Clark was killed.

There were two deaths on May 13, although only one of the accidents happened on that date. Mrs. Iva May Cummings, a local nurse, was killed on that date when a car in which she was riding crashed through a guard fence at the corner of James Matthews, of Newport Beach, a member of the state motorcycle squad died from injuries received two days before when his motorcycle collided with an automobile at the corner of South Main and Bishop streets.

The first accident of the year was on January 2, when Frank Crow received fatal injuries at Anaheim by jumping from a moving machine. The second was January 15, when Benjamin H. Lamb sustained a fractured skull in a collision on the El Modena grade to Orange county park.

H. S. Student Killed

Two fatalities occurred in February, the first on the 9th, when Mrs. Stena Dunkin, of Montebello, died from injuries inflicted by a heavy car driven by J. L. Brooks, of Los Angeles, crashed into the light machine in which she was riding at a point near El Toro. Lida Eff was killed near Buena Park on the 27th when an automobile crashed into a stage on which she was a passenger.

William Seltzer, Huntington Beach high school pupil, was killed at Garden Grove, March

WOMAN ACTIVE IN OPERATION OF STORES

It is not often that a woman's name appears among the pages of an automobile section unless she is some film or stage luminary who is pictured posing by an automobile. However this article deals with a real business woman of the automobile world. She is Mrs. George Pepperdine, vice-president and treasurer of the Western Auto Supply company, which operates a store in this city at 416 West Fourth street under the management of J. W. Campbell.

"Mrs. Pepperdine's title is not an empty one," said Campbell. "She carries a full share of the burden of guiding the destinies of this enormous chain store organization, and every morning can be found at her desk at 8:30 o'clock, working throughout the day with the same office hours as the newest stenographer. "Not only is she doing this at present but she has been actively engaged in this business since it first started in Kansas City in 1909 where she and her husband, George Pepperdine, started Western Auto Supply company."

Scientists say that a fall in the mean annual temperature of Europe of nine degrees Fahrenheit would bring back the glacial period and cover the continent with vast sheets of ice.

automobile editor approving the plan he advanced for making the highways safer. The local merchant expressed the belief that with a line down the center of a highway drivers would be more careful to "hug" their sides of the road, thus eliminating many conditions that have their influence in causing automobile accidents.

residents of the city, and that meant that the club must be located near a railroad line or an electric railway.

Naturally, the club's development was slow. Railroad schedules were not designed for the benefit of those who might suddenly wish to dash out to the links, and they were much worse for those who might wish to spend a social evening at the clubhouse.

The automobile has made a visit to the country club so simple and convenient, as compared with the olden days, that it is entitled to all the credit for the remarkable development of this phase of American life.

The clubs of today, instead of being limited in their location to regions served by rail, are purposely laid out in secluded and picturesque sites, yet are more quickly accessible than the so-called country clubs that used to lie alongside the main line of the railroad, with town lots encroaching on both sides.

However, it is in the extension of their field of activities that the clubs have been so greatly changed by the automobile.

The country club is no longer a mere rendezvous for golfers and a recreation ground for the young people. It has, instead, become a true club, transferring to its exclusive and invigorating natural surroundings the social atmosphere and comfort of the best city clubs. Moreover, its activities and advantages are enjoyed by women as well as men, and it is a social center by night as well as by day.

There are hundreds of clubs and thousands of members today, as against a few score clubs and hundreds of members two decades ago. The beneficial effects of this great development, of course, are obvious, and it is the automobile alone that has made it possible.

AUTO PRICES SAME IN LAST 10 YEARS

While living costs have increased in the last ten years to a remarkable degree, the value of the dollar as it relates to the purchase of an automobile, has increased to such an extent that today the motor car industry stands out as the one field where a dollar purchases more than it did ten years ago, according to Charles Bevis, Santa Ana distributor for the Velle.

"The dollar used in the purchase of an automobile today represents 111 cents as compared with the dollar in 1913," Bevis said.

He also shows that the dollar used for general living costs has mounted," Bevis concluded.

Gets Theft Term In Jail Same As That Given 'Pal'

Alexander James O'Connor, whose "pal," Harold Stone, was recently convicted by a jury of an attempt to commit petit larceny, was today serving a sentence identical with that pronounced in Stone's case, O'Connor having pleaded guilty to a similar charge.

Superior Judge F. C. Drumm late yesterday sentenced O'Connor to a term of three months in the county jail, where Stone has been serving for several weeks.

Stone and O'Connor were both charged with grand larceny following their asserted attempt to steal a light coupe in this city. A jury at Stone's trial found him guilty but reduced the charge to a petit larceny rating, holding that the car was worth less than $200, the sum constituting grand larceny.

When O'Connor appeared before Judge Drumm yesterday, the court agreed to apply the Stone jury's valuation to the rating in the case of O'Connor and accepted the latter's plea of guilty to a charge of attempting to commit petit larceny.

MAY ACCIDENTS ARE FATAL TO SIX

21, when a machine in which he and a group of his schoolmates were traveling went into a ditch. April also produced two fatal accidents, one April 1 and another four days later. In the first, Mildred Ware was killed near Irvine in a collision. The second life claimed in an accident was that of Otis Brewer, of Huntington Beach. Riding a motorcycle, Brewer was killed when his machine skidded and threw him to the pavement near the beach city.

L. A. Death Toll 48
According to the public safety department of the Auto Club of Southern California, forty-eight accidental deaths in Los Angeles county in April were traced to motor vehicles. In that county collisions between motor vehicles and pedestrians continued to hold first place among the fatalities. Nineteen of the forty-eight deaths were attributable to this cause, an increase of eleven in this classification over the previous year.

Ten of the fatalities were due to cutting in. Five children lost their lives while playing in the street and five persons were killed crossing streets in the middle of the block. Incompetent handling of cars caused eight deaths, and two more fatalities resulted through driving to the left of street cars. Only one of the fatalities was due to weather conditions.

Cultivation of semi-arid lands does not cause any appreciable difference in the rainfall in those regions, according to the records of the department of agriculture.

Why it's True Blue

THE Oakland Six is true blue because it was designed with one very definite purpose in mind—to make it the finest light six in its class. Take Oakland closed cars for example. Here are real automobiles. They are true blue because their distinctive Fisher-built bodies are real closed car bodies—with no makeshifts nor compromises entering into their construction or appointments.

Oakland's Six-Cylinder Smoothness Means Greater Closed-Car Comfort

The Oakland engine is true blue because in it the natural advantages of a "Six" have been developed to a remarkable degree.

There is freedom from annoying vibration, which is essential to complete closed-car satisfaction; there is extreme flexibility which makes gear changing rarely necessary; there is a surprising ability to respond to unusual demands quickly and without fuss—all of which qualities you will surely seek in selecting your next closed-car.

Then there are four-wheel brakes (you certainly should not buy a car without this proved essential); exclusive centralized controls on the steering wheel; a special body finish which retains its lustre indefinitely, and a dozen other features.

Isn't it true that the problem of choosing the right car is merely a matter of getting the most and the best for your money? Examine the True Blue Oakland Six. Drive it yourself. We welcome frank comparisons.

BREA, May 24.—The May fete given by the pupils of the kindergarten on the lawn of Laurel school Thursday morning was very well received. The following program was given by the children in the form of songs and dances: Bunny hop, sailors' dance, bluebirds, Dutch dance, minuet, and the May pole dance. The costumes worn by the children were made by themselves during school hours. A card party given by the Trinity Rebekah Lodge at Craig's hall Wednesday evening was well attended. A delightful program was given after which cards were played. Earl Loney of Compton

POLY ENGINEER CLASS IS TOLD HARBOR FEATS ASKS MILLIONS IN ROYALTIES ON PROCESS

Depicting the many engineering feats required to perfect a great harbor, E. W. Merwin, assistant engineer of Los Angeles harbor, delivered a lecture illustrated by stereopticon views at the close of a dinner served last night in the "gold room" of Ketter's cafe. The entire affair was planned by members of the Santa Ana high school Engineering club.

Declaring that the United States government had constructed the principal breakwaters and had financed the main dredging in Los Angeles harbor, Merwin stated that the city took charge of the minor dredging and built nearly all of the wharves, warehouses and other docking facilities. The city of Los Angeles owns 90 per cent of the wharves which line the harbor, he said, adding that none was leased for private use.

Shows Progress.
The problem of constructing wharves to withstand the severe strain of heavy vessels, the carefully laid out plans for enabling railroads to dodge around the shipping warehouses without necessitating sharp turns in the tracks, and many facilities required by an up-to-date harbor for the accommodation of the newer and greater ships which are being constructed, were among the harbor features discussed by the Los Angeles engineer.

Different stages of development at Los Angeles harbor were shown by photo slides made several years apart. One of the stereopticon views contrasted the breakwater port with the unprotected outer harbor, showing how a narrow strip of rocks could quiet a tossing sea.

Warehouses equipped with automatic sprinkler systems for fire protection and constructed so that their dock openings for unloading can be directly opposite the hatches of all types of vessels, were pictured on the screen, together with the methods for transferring freight to and from the ships.

Chief Export Oil.
Merwin said that 85 per cent of the exports of the harbor is oil which is forced through a six-inch pipeline along the breakwater to ships at anchor.

Methods of constructing concrete piles also were explained. Referring again to the network of railroads in the harbor district, Merwin asserted that there were ten feet of trackage to every foot of shed for unloading freight.

The lecture was closed with the speaker offering to answer all questions pertaining to harbor construction.

At the beginning of the meeting Everett McKinney, president of the Engineering club, introduced George Sackman, secretary-treasurer, who explained the purposes of the organization.

H. N. Allen, former faculty advisor and organizer of the club, told of the accomplishments of the high school engineers, paid a tribute to the ambitious students and introduced the harbor expert from Los Angeles.

TAKE PRECAUTIONS TO CHECK DISEASE

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Clean-up of additional dairy herds in the Hynes district, where the foot and mouth disease has been making its last stand in this county, has been ordered by the state board of health authorities fighting the plague.

Six herds of dairy cattle numbering 297 heads, none of which are infected but all exposed to the disease, were ordered shot and buried at once. It is believed this will prevent any further outbreaks of the epidemic.

One herd of 24 head near Long Beach, also believed liable to contract the ailment, will be killed too, health authorities said.

won the men's first prize and Mr. Freeley of Placentia was awarded the consolation prize. Ladies' prizes were won by Mrs. Duran of La Habra, first, and Mrs. Rymer the consolation prize. The party was given for the benefit of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs' orphans' home at Gilroy.

As another department in the newly formed Baptist church, the Young People's Baptist Union was organized Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Fiscus. The following officers were elected for the society: President, William Fiscus; vice president, T. P. Wallace; secretary, Dessie Smith; treasurer, Nora Swindle. The first meeting of the society will be Sunday evening in Sewell hall at 6:30.

Mrs. Nellie Ryan of Huntington Beach visited from Tuesday to Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Perrine.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hennigan were business visitors in Los Angeles Thursday.

25,000 Miles Without Motor Repairs

SUDDENLY out on the Mojave desert, miles from nowhere it seemed, one cylinder started missing! Changing the spark plug didn't do any good. Nothing to do but limp back to the Palmdale Garage!

When the head was removed from the motor, a common upholstery tack was found firmly wedged between one valve and its seat. Jonathan Kirkpatrick, Inspector for the Los Angeles County Health Department smiled as he told the story.

"The tack probably dropped in the firing chamber when I examined the spark plugs the previous Sunday. I drive my Ford from 50 to 150 miles a day under all conditions—on boulevards, mountain roads and desert trails. The motor has always run smooth and cool, and it's good for many thousand miles more. It has always been consistently lubricated with VENTURA Motor Oil. Never before had the motor needed repairs—and the speedometer registered better than 25,000 that day at Palmdale! The firing chambers and piston heads were in excellent shape, and remarkably free from carbon."

A record—but by no means the first time that the life of a motor has been prolonged by VENTURA. Swiftly moving parts are insured positive protection from that Great Destroyer—Friction—by the stubborn, clinging, heat-resisting film of VENTURA Motor Oil! With such protection your motor will give you its full power over extra thousands of care-free miles! Specify VENTURA next time your crank case is drained. It's sold wherever the "Red V" sign is displayed.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUDY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Brechton proves unhappy. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Farnival. Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old sweetheart and sails with him to America.

When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary is ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage. David mistakes Mary for Nigel's wife and takes her to Red Grange to live with his aunt. Monty Fisher tells David that he knows that Mary is not Nigel's wife and David tells him that he found that out long ago.

When Mary sees Monty at Red Grange she fears exposure and runs away. David starts out to find Mary. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"I don't think it is anything like that, dear," he said. He laid his hand on her trembling one. "Monty is going to find her for us. Even in London it is not possible to hide forever, you know."

"But why should she want to hide?" asked Miss Varney brokenly. "I did my best to make her happy. I am sure I loved her dearly. As if I could ever be unkind to dear Nigel's wife!"

There was a little pause. The servants had left the room. Then David said suddenly, almost inaudibly:

"But she was not Nigel's wife, dear."

CHAPTER XLIX

Not Nigel's Wife

FOR a moment Miss Varney stared blankly at her nephew, then she drew herself up with a sort of prim dignity.

"Really, David, I don't think it's quite nice of you to make jokes like that—if you mean it for a joke," she added with gentle rebuke. "Especially at such a time, when we are all so worried and unhappy."

David raised his eyes. There was something in their expression that would have told her without words that what he had said had been spoken in deadly earnest.

"I did not mean it for a joke," he said quietly. "Mary was never Nigel's wife! It's all been a mistake!"

He seemed to be choosing his words carefully; his grave face had paled a little.

Miss Varney looked at Fisher helplessly. She wondered for a moment if David's head were turned; she pushed her chair back a little with a nervous gesture.

"David dear!"

"It's quite true, Miss Varney," Monty Fisher interposed. "David is quite right in what he says. The lady who has been staying here with you is not, and never was, Nigel's wife!"

There was a tragic silence. "I don't understand! You look as if you are speaking the truth, both of you. But—oh, it can't be true! She would never have deceived us so! Why, she told me herself how dearly she loved Nigel; how all her happiness died when he died."

"That is true enough," said David. "I believe she did love Nigel, but she was never his wife."

He smiled a little, meeting Miss Varney's puzzled eyes. "I can't explain things any better to you, dear," he went on, "because I don't know the true explanation myself. But when we find Mary—"

"We may never find her," said Miss Varney chokingly. "Oh, poor child—poor child! David, is this why she ran away?"

"I think it must be. You see, she recognized Monty when he came yesterday; he had known her years ago. I suppose she thought that he would tell me—"

He broke off with a feeling of bitter anger against himself.

Why had he not let Mary know that he already knew her secret? Why had he allowed her to suffer the torture of fear of discovery?

He had hoped that she would tell him of her own free will. Apparently it had been a vain hope.

He was restless and miserable. He told Monty that he should go back to London with him. By early evening both men were at the Fisher's house.

"You will stay with us, of course?" Monty had said. And David had agreed. He was in no mood for loneliness; he was glad of the offer.

Dora was amazed to see them. She was vexed that she had not taken more trouble with her appearance that evening; she need not have minded. David never noticed a woman's clothes, and just now his thoughts were too occupied with Mary to care for anything else.

"And what has brought you to town?" Dora demanded, smiling in to his eyes across the dinner-table. "Anything to do with the mysterious telegram?"

For a moment David looked puzzled; then he smiled.

"Oh, that! We haven't discovered yet who it is from."

But he did not answer her question, and she did not like to refer to it again. In spite of her protestations that she could manage any man she chose, she was a little afraid of David. He was too indifferent to her beauty, too heedless of her fascinations.

It was only much later, when Monty was going to his room for the night, that she called softly to him across the landing.

He went to her at once.

"What is all this mystery? Why has David come to town?"

He hesitated, then he told her. "Mary is missing—she left the house this morning."

"Missing! What do you mean? Have they quarreled?" There was a note of eagerness in her voice.

Monty shook his head. "No, I am sure they have not. But she has gone. Her bed was not slept in last night."

"But she will come back? How absurd! As if she would run away from a home like that? She knew too well which side of her bread was buttered."

"David does not think she will ever come back!"

Her eyes were incredulous. "Monty! How perfectly ridiculous! Of course she will!" She stared at him with a frown between her brows. "What has she done?" she demanded truculently. "Has she—perhaps she has stolen something?"

"Dora!"

"Well, you always said she was an adventuress. I should not be surprised if she had done something like that, and David has turned her out of the house."

"He has not turned her out; he has come to London to try and find her."

The hot color dyed her cheeks; her eyes grew angry.

"You are not telling me the whole truth; you are keeping something back. This woman seems to have bewitched you all. Monty, you are unkind, when you know how interested I am in David. I believe you are helping this woman to take him away from me."

"You don't believe anything of the sort, and if you speak so loudly David will hear."

"I don't care if he does." But she lowered her voice.

She looked very beautiful, standing there in the uncertain light. Her long, golden hair was unbound and falling below her waist. She wore a loose white wrapper, heavily trimmed with dainty lace, that suited her to perfection.

For a moment there was silence, then she burst out with a sort of chagrined triumph.

"There is one thing—she can't marry him; she is his brother's wife! There would be an awful scandal."

Monty frowned. Sometimes, much as he loved and admired his sister, she jarred his nerves.

"A man may marry his brother's wife if he chooses," he said.

She answered quickly.

"But David never would. He would never like the kind of woman Nigel liked. How can you suggest that he would ever take a fancy to a common woman like Nigel's wife?"

"I suggest nothing. It was entirely your own idea."

She made an impatient gesture. "Why does he want to find her? Something must have happened. If you don't tell me, I shall ask David."

"I can't prevent you."

Her mood changed suddenly. She slipped a coaxing hand through his arm.

"Monty, don't you love me any more? You've been so horrid to me lately. Why is it?"

He slipped an affectionate arm round her.

"Silly child! Just because I won't tell you everything you want to know."

She drew away from him. Her eyes were angry again.

"Then you are keeping something back from me!"

He hesitated, finally he stooped, and brushed her soft cheek with his lips.

"I am only keeping it back for your good."

"My good! What rubbish you talk! How can it be for my good not to tell me things about Nigel's stupid wife?"

There was subdued passion in her voice; she pushed him angrily away.

Monty lost his temper; he let her go.

"Very well, then, if you insist, I will tell you. She is not Nigel's wife—this girl—that is the whole truth!"

CHAPTER L

"A Woman Scorned"

HE was sorry as soon as he had spoken. The whiteness of her face touched him. He tried to take back his words or soften them; he began a stumbling explanation, but she cut him short.

"Is this true—really true?"

He answered miserably that it was.

She stood for a moment staring at him with blazing eyes, then she turned and left him; and he heard the shutting and locking of her door.

He hesitated, not liking to leave her, and yet longing to get away; he listened, but everything was quiet, and he went softly to his own room.

After all, it was just as well she should know now as later; the shock would only be made worse

START BIG FIRE TO AID DEER HUNTERS

SANTA BARBARA, May 24.—Indictments against three prominent San Luis Obispo residents, charging them with deliberately setting fire to forests near Atascadero, will be asked of the June federal grand jury in Los Angeles by Forest Supervisor Chester Jordan, he stated here today.

The fires, which were started last week, burned for four days, sweeping over a large area.

Jordan said he had a signed confession from one of the men, whose names he refused to divulge, admitting that the fire was started to burn underbrush so deer hunting would be improved.

But behind her locked door Dora Fisher stood with clenched hands, and blue eyes blazing in her white face.

Bitter jealousy set her heart on fire; not jealousy because she loved David, but jealousy to think that another woman, not so beautiful or fascinating, should have succeeded where she herself had failed.

LOS ANGELES BUILDS.
LOS ANGELES, May 23.—Los Angeles is credited with one-twentieth of all the building operations in the United States during 1923 in a statement issued by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Reports from other cities in southern California showed similar record-breaking building activities.

USE NEWSPRINT PAPER.
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Consumption of newsprint paper in the United States in 1923 set a new high record. Total net consumption, according to the Department of Commerce, amounted to 2,800,000 tons, exceeding the figures for 1922 by about 28 per cent, and those of 1922 by about 15 per cent.

The New Hupmobile

The New Way

Now Buyers Can Tell What Is Inside Of A Motor Car

Hupmobile construction is an open book. Its details can be seen by one and all in our salesroom.

Here our Parts Display gives real quality-proof. And the quality you can see is decidedly exceptional for cars of Hupmobile class.

Ordinarily, when a man buys a car, he buys it more or less on faith. The parts that determine whether there is to be lasting satisfaction or quick dissatisfaction are hidden away in the chassis. They never see daylight until trouble comes. In the case of the Hupmobile, the facts are of a different sort. The buyer is perfectly safe if he goes no farther than Hupmobile repute. That tells him of a car which thousands believe to have no equal—at any price or in any class.

Buy your next car more intelligently. Come and see Our Parts Display—a liberal education in what makes real motor car value.

GIANTS' PUNCH ENABLES TEAM TO BE FIRST

Champions Come to Life At Cincinnati and Knock Reds to 4th Place

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, May 24.—One of the main reasons why the New York Giants are a champion club is that they can always find a knockout punch when their chins are most exposed.

The Giants have won three national league championships by doing their best work against the teams they had to beat. In 1922 they won the pennant by taking five straight games in a crucial series with the Pittsburgh Pirates and last year they did the same thing by knocking the Cincinnati Reds dead in a series that virtually meant the pennant.

They are doing the same thing this season. Before the champions landed in Cincinnati they had lost eleven out of the last 14 games and had almost forced their manager home in despair but when they hit the Reds they had a chance to make up the lost ground and they did it.

They tore into the Reds and won the first two games of the series getting back into the lead and shoving the contending Cincinnati club down into fourth place. They have two more games in Cincinnati and even if they can do no better than square the series, they will have scored a moral victory.

It is unfortunate that the Reds have the opposite tendencies. They had a big punch for the tight places in 1919 when they won the pennant by taking six games away from the Giants in three days, but since then they have been inclined to blow up when it was most urgent for them to play winning ball.

For sheer nerve and raw courage the headlines of the day should go to Miss Audrey Faust of St. Louis, who single-handed will storm the bunkered ramparts of British golf this month in quest of the international championship.

Miss Faust does not rank with the Glenna Colletts or the Edith Cummingses of America but she is a fine golfer just the same. She gave Miss Collett one of her hardest matches last season and also played in the 80's against Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck.

The Missourian is sufficiently skilled to qualify, if the blustery gales do not affect her game too greatly, and she may get through the early rounds, even if she does no better.

No American woman has ever won the British championship. Few have even come close. The nearest approach was when Molly Adams (the late Mrs. E. C. Wheeler) went to the sixth round in the 1905 tournament. This was the year following Walter Travis' victory in the British amateur.

Travis was the first American to win the amateur abroad. No amateur club has been able to do it since.

"Twist love and loyalty," might have been the title of the romance of Norman Dole, Stanford athlete, and Janice Manning, University of California student.

As usual, love won. Her problem was this: If you find the man you love scoring points against your alma mater, what should you do?

"Marry him; then cheer for your husband," was her answer. Thus it happened that Dole and Miss Manning were secretly married not long ago, this culminating a romance which had started in childhood days in Riverside.

Dole is a quarter-miler of note. Also a footballer.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

NEW YORK, May 24.—If Harry Wills had two good hands, sound and true, we'd pick him to give Jack Dempsey the fight of his life. But the negro's hands are brittle, susceptible to sudden and serious hurts, and for that reason it is hard to figure him.

Wills has more genuine fighting ability, natural and otherwise, than any man Dempsey has ever faced. He can hit harder than Willard, Brennan, Miske or Carpenter. Being a two-handed fighter he is more dangerous than Firpo, whose left is as useless as a fork in a soup bowl.

Gibbons is the only big fellow who is as skilled in defensive tactics as the Brown Panther. Wills, however, is in the lamentable position of a gunner with plenty of high-class ammunition and no weapons. What will it profit him if he puts all he has behind a sound wallop and pulls up with a busted mitten?

Wills' Hands Brittle
Wills runs the risk of a broken hand whenever he lands solidly. Probably the fighter has suffered as many breaks as the New Orleans man. Many of these occurred in days gone by when he mingled exclusively with the colored heavies. Next to Vermont granite there is nothing so trying on the human hand as a colored giant's hard noodle.

Only recently Wills broke his hand in the gymnasium and was forced to postpone a fight with Bartley Madden, one of the ring's distinguished stuffed shirts.

Dempsey Rocks Giants
Wills is taller and heavier than Dempsey. His reach is longer, and he is only three years older. You can throw Wills' physical superiority out in considering Dempsey. As the world knows the champion is always at his best when fighting bigger men. He demolished the huge Willard and battered the giant Firpo into a pulp.

But Gibbons, the light heavyweight, held him off for 15 rounds. An exception was Carpenter, also a light heavyweight, who went out in four rounds. The Frenchman, however, had little real ability aside from a fine straight right-hand punch and he fought a rash, headless fight besides. The bigness of Wills will have no bearing on the outcome of a Dempsey fight.

May Lose On Foul
Of late years Wills has developed a habit of holding with one hand and hitting with the other. In this style of fighting he is most effective. Holding and hitting of course constitute foul tactics. No alert referee will tol-

Nichols and Elliott Sent to Big Prep Meet By Oil City Citizens

Ross Nichols and Virgil Elliott, brilliant Huntington Beach high school track performers, will leave early tomorrow for Chicago to compete in the National Interscholastic meet there Friday and Saturday, May 30 and 31. Ray Walker, coach of the Oilers, also will make the jaunt to the Windy city.

A campaign to ship the trio to the big classic was launched at Huntington Beach yesterday morning and in less than half hour funds were in the treasury to more than pay the transportation, hotel and "grub" bills of the triumvirate.

Nichols and Elliott were competing this afternoon at the Los Angeles Coliseum in the American Olympic games team trials. They were to return to the beach after the meet and pack their duds for the trip to Illinois.

With only two competing representatives the odds are against the beach squad capturing near enough digits to win the national interscholastic title. Two years ago, however, Boyden of Vallejo high school went to the meet and won three firsts enough to give his school the flag.

Nichols won the high hurdles last year and he is almost a cinch to repeat this season. He also is certain to break into the point column in the low barriers. Elliott has an excellent chance to cop the broad jump.

Silver in Rally For Holly Draw

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Dode Bercot, woodsman from Seattle and pride of the whole Northwest, was forced to battle hard for a draw at Hollywood stadium last night when he met Jack Silver, San Francisco lightweight, in the main event.

Bercot started strong and took the first round, but wore himself down as the fight progressed. Silver coming from behind in the final period with a zest which entitled him to the stand-off decision.

In the semi-windup, Bobby Corbett sickened Alex Maurice and took a well earned victory.

Charge Against Kearns Dropped

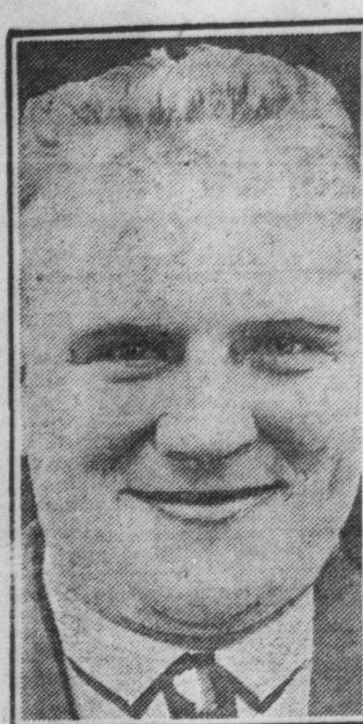

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Jack Kearns, manager for heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, was free today of charges made against him by Frances Marion Emmerson, picture actress.

District Attorney Keyes announced that an exhaustive investigation of the girl's claim she was attacked convinced him the accusation was false.

Dempsey and his manager, Kearns, will probably have much to say in the selection of the referee. They may be counted on to select one who not only knows when he sees it but will not hesitate to act.

I look for Wills to give Dempsey a hard fight if his hands hold out. If not, I look for Dempsey to win off by himself in one of the early rounds. I wouldn't be surprised either if Wills lost on a foul.

Bike Sprint Champ Returns to States Looking For Races

WILLIAM SPENCER

There's trouble ahead for the bike speeders in this country. Willie Spencer, who held the sprint championships in 1922 and 1923, is back in America after a tour of Australia and is in a vicious competitive mood. Nothing short of another title will satisfy the young

Irvine to Play Hollywood Club At Tustin Park

The Irvine baseball club will meet the Hollywood Merchants tomorrow afternoon at the Tustin high school park. Manager Arthur Trickey announced today.

The Beantickers were to gamble with the Ptomaine Tommies but this club disbanded yesterday. Trickey has not yet been granted permission to play on the Irvine field and until the quarantine ban is lifted his men will play at Tustin.

Other games in Orange county will send Laguna Beach against the Van Dien-Young company at the Fifth and Sullivan streets park here and the Santa Ana Commercial company against Anaheim at the Mother Colony.

SHORT SPORTS

Babe Ruth's single, Bob Meusel's double and a single by Wally Pipp in the ninth inning drove over the run that gave the Yanks a 7 to 6 victory from the Tigers. Ruth hit his tenth home run.

Walter Johnson let the White Sox down with one hit, struck out 14 and the Senators won, 4 to 0. It was the 103rd shut out for the veteran Johnson.

Roy Meeker, one of Connie Mack's youngsters, fooled the St. Louis Browns and held them to three scratch hits, the Athletics winning, 5 to 0.

Scoring five runs in the ninth inning when the whole team blew up behind Carl Mays, the Giants beat the Reds, 8 to 3, and went back into first place, the Reds dropping to fourth.

Zach Wheat celebrated his 36th birthday by hitting a homer which helped the Robins beat the Pirates, 3 to 1.

Four errors behind him blew Uhle's game away and the Red Sox beat the Indians, 5 to 1.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Curtis Brooks, Northeast, pulled an iron man stunt at the "Little Intercollegiate" championship meet when he won the javelin and shot put and finished second in the discus.

NEW YORK.—Walter Craddock, University of Texas, arrived here to try out for the Olympic wrestling team, after beating his way on freight trains from Austin.

CROWD TO SEE SPORT KINGS IN ACTION

Jack Dempsey to Appear In Exhibition; Paddock Enters Dashes

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—A throng expected to total 30,000 was predicted for the Coliseum today as the greatest track stars in the Southwest gathered for the Olympic tryouts of Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico.

The largest crowd that has filled the Coliseum since the Golden Bears dined the Trojans in their gridiron clash last fall was promised early in the day. Not only track fans but those of the flistic game were piling to the big arena by the hundreds, baited by the promised appearance of Jack Dempsey.

A ring has been erected in the center of the football field and the Manassas Mauler was scheduled to demonstrate his favorite punches on a pair of boxing mates.

But the big interest of the day was centered on Charles Paddock, the Pasadena wonder, who is held capable of showing a pair of heels to any human being in the world. His appearance today will be the first one here since he left to run in the international intercollegiate games in Paris last year. Paddock, said to be in the pink of condition, is looked to for some new marks on the track.

On the field, Clarence Houser, U. S. C. weight star, will occupy the premier position that Paddock will hold on the clanders. Once rated as the coming champion weight man of the world while yet in high school, Houser was put out of the running by illness and has been unable to compete at his best form in track events since entering U. S. C. This afternoon will see him in top-notch condition the first time in two years.

Besides these champions there are 120 other crack athletes from all parts of Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico who will go to make this afternoon's event the greatest track classic ever seen in the Southwest. They include such men as Keith Lloyd, sprinter, Bob Maxwell, hurdler, Charles Dags and Leighton Dye.

A total of 17 track and field events will be staged. They are listed as the 100 meters dash, 200 meters dash, 400 meters dash, 800 meters dash, 1500 meters run, 10,000 meters run, 110 meters high hurdles, broad jump, high jump, pole vault, discus throw, shot put, javelin throw, hammer throw, the hop, step and jump and the 3,000 meters run.

BLACK GOLD FACES CLEVELAND BARRIER

MAPLE HEIGHTS RACE TRACK, CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 24.—Black Gold, winner of the Kentucky Derby, will race on a muddy track against six speedy 3 year olds here this afternoon in the $5,000 Ohio state derby. The course is one and one-eighth miles. Post time will be about 3:45 p. m. Eastern standard time.

It was still raining here today after an all night downpour and the track was very soggy.

Fire Threatens Dempsey's Hotel

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, breathed as hard for a time last night as he ever did in a prize ring. A fire totally destroyed a furniture store adjoining Dempsey's outlying resort hotel, and it appeared possible that the champion's profitable investment was going up in smoke as well.

REGISTRATION FOR AUGUST

It may not be timely, but the subject is one that should be discussed in and out of season, if by discussion the importance of registration and transfers of registration can be impressed upon the mind of voters.

Hundreds of residents of Orange county were unable to vote in the May primaries because they had neglected the mere formality of getting their names properly upon the great register. Hundreds, too, no doubt, will find themselves unable to vote at the August primaries for the same reason.

Neglect of transfer is one reason for failure of many citizens to vote. According to estimates made at the Santa Ana post office three or four months ago, ten to fifteen per cent of the residents of Santa Ana changed their addresses every six months. While the numbers of changes of addresses has decreased somewhat, the proportion remains high, and doubtless will continue high throughout the coming summer. Hundreds of residents have moved into new subdivisions. Under the state law, anyone who has moved from one precinct to another must change his registration, or he loses his vote.

Registration and transfers for the August primaries can be made up to the latter part of July. But why wait until July?

"The carp is extremely prolific," says the Sportsman's Digest. Evidently, or there wouldn't be so much carping.—Louisville Times.

A NEW ASSOCIATION

The organization of the West-Northwest Improvement and Development association is a welcomed addition to Santa Ana's civic organizations. True, the purpose and duty of this association is confined to looking after improvements that have to do with the advancement of one section of the city, just as the South Main Street Improvement association concerns itself with the improvement of the southern portion of the city, but that kind of activity is advisable and effective.

Anything that helps one section of Santa Ana helps the city as a whole.

There has been much activity in the western and northwestern part of the city in the past two or three years. A business section has grown up to the west—a veritable small city in itself. Many new streets have been opened and there are more that can be and should be opened up. Dozens of blocks have been paved in that section in the past year, and, it is believed, concerted effort on the part of the citizens will result in further street improvements.

The section itself is concerned with schools, with extension of sewers and water mains, with additional city mail delivery, with street lighting and with various other matters of importance to the district. The opening of Flower street, making it a main north and south thoroughfare of the city, no doubt will receive attention.

This brief statement gives one an idea of the many things of importance that supply opportunity for activity on the part of an association.

THE FRENCH VICTORY

Now that Poincare has lost the French election, and is considered certain to lose the support of parliament and be forced to resign, Europe will have a chance to recover, and France herself will have a chance.

Poincare stood for militarism, at a time when the world was weary of militarism, and so had to go, sooner or later. He stood for collecting reparation from Germany by cutting his pound of flesh from Germany's living body—a process fatal alike to Germany and France. He stood for a perpetuation of the old, bitter hatreds at a time when the only hope of Europe and the only lasting hope of the two international feuds, France and Germany, lay in a policy of conciliation and Christian tolerance.

Poincare was an avenger, when France needed a Lincoln. A spirit of revenge is human, especially when the would-be avenger has suffered as France suffered at Germany's hands in this last bitter war. But the history of every feud, family or national, not to mention the ethics of a supposedly Christian civilization, or the laws of relentless economics, proves that there is no lasting advantage in revenge.

Poincare was strong and honest, but in the larger sense unintelligent. He failed to see what the age needed and what his own country needed. But the French people, guided by experience rather than glittering oratory, have come little by little to realize the error of that path. So they vote out the jingo and junkies and vote in the moderates and liberals, and seem to insure a French government that other nations can work with—not only Germany, but England and America and other powers that have a feeling for what the age needs and believe it to be possible to fashion peace while making Germany pay.

We fear the American Federation of Labor will get nowhere in the fight for beer unless it can affiliate the Bootleggers' Union.—Columbia Record.

RED CROSS LIFE SAVERS

One of the finest domestic activities of the American Red Cross is its development of a national life-saving corps among private citizens. Wherever swimming is taught nowadays the Red Cross offers to everybody the opportunity to qualify for the life-saving corps. Instruction is given and followed by rigid tests. When the tests are successfully passed, the qualified applicant receives membership in the national life saving corps and one more swimmer is added to the growing list of those who know how to rescue persons from drowning.

In a great many cities where there are public swimming pools and where high school pupils are taught swimming, this life-saving work is developing rapidly. Ambitious youngsters love to learn to swim and dive and they are eager to be able to pass the life-saving tests. The national corps already numbers more than 45,000 members and will have many more when the summer camping season is over.

Here is a fine, constructive piece of work. Drownings at bathing beaches and summer camps have been all too frequent in the past. With love of outdoor life growing apace in this country, it is essential that more people understand not only how to protect themselves but to help others. Every additional Boy Scout who learns early how to swim and dive and how to rescue others in the water is helping to make the beaches, rivers, swimming holes and lakes safer for everybody.

There's no superstition in politics. At the same time, leaders realize that it's just as well not to nominate a candidate on Friday, June 13.

Highway Action Approved

Riverside Press
After a campaign for its rights lasting for years, Riverside county is assured of action on the Mecca-Blythe road. The announcement to this effect made by Governor Richardson and Secretary Mixon of the state highway commission while they were here with the press association is certainly good news.

The last state bond issue carried an appropriation of $300,000 for the Mecca-Blythe road and the approval of the bonds gave a popular mandate for the acceptance of the highway as part of the state system. The effort, however, to get the state highway commission to take the necessary action to assume control of the road and to spend the funds available for its improvement has been a discouraging one; and the announcement of the acceptance of the road as part of the state system and of plans for its improvement is received with relief and satisfaction all over the county.

The sum available for improvement is not enough to provide a paved road, but judiciously expended, it will make possible a good, usable road all the way from Mecca to Blythe. And state control means maintenance on an adequate scale and the gradual development of the road until it becomes a highly satisfactory route.

The Sun Kist Trail is the shortest and most feasible route into Southern California from Arizona and the East and it is the outlet for the great Palo Verde valley, one of the richest in the state. The law and the logic of facts have all been in favor of the improvement of the road but differences over the route and other factors, political and local, have made the situation a very difficult one. Through all the complications Riverside county has, however, stood firm for recognition of the just claims of this highway; and success has now crowned our efforts.

The county will now be relieved of the expense of maintaining this road and can spend the money thus released on the improvement of a road through the Palo Verde valley, from north to south. That will help in the development of the valley and will supplement in an important degree the work of the state in making the valley accessible.

Apparently the county may have to build a road from Thermal to Shaver's Well in order to secure the final action of the state highway commission. This is the string to the proposal that will not be generally popular and it raises now complications regarding the routing. However, it is better to meet this condition than to fail in the effort for state recognition and improvement of the road.

Within the next year the state work under the $300,000 appropriation should be completed and then a big celebration ought to be held at Blythe in honor of the event. The people there will surely be ready to "step on the gas" in proper style when the improvements are completed.

Two Cents For Good Roads

Long Beach Press
Every time an automobile driver buys a gallon of gasoline he pays two cents toward better highways.

As the average motor car consumes several hundred gallons of fuel every year, and as California now has nearly 1,250,000 motor vehicles, two cents multiplied, say by 1000 and then by 1,250,000, produces quite a pretty sum. Anyone who doubts the statement is privileged to make his own computation.

To be more conservative, divide in half the estimated $25,000,000 annual return from the gasoline tax, and the fund available for road repair and maintenance is of no mean proportions. This support, added to county and district road taxes, and to state road bond funds, should provide the means required for adequate highway service. There should be no delay in the effort to overcome congestion on the boulevards between the two chief cities of Southern California, Los Angeles and Long Beach. Narrow pavements should be widened. Broken pavements should be mended. New roads should be opened, through reasonable co-operation between land owners and county or state.

That the automobile is an established institution is proved by the fact that one person out of four is the owner of a motor car of some sort. This means that every family has at least one such machine; or will have, at the earliest opportunity to procure one. With all the state on wheels, there is necessity for a dependable road program, one that will expand to meet the increasing demands.

The two cent tax on gasoline is a medium of great promise to this end.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.
WHICH CLASS ARE YOU IN?

A speaker addressing a number of young men recently said:

There are three classes of men. The optimist, the pessimist, and the peptomist. There is a job to be done.

"The optimist says, 'sure, it can be done,' but he leaves it for George to do. The pessimist says 'it can't be done.' The peptomist comes along and actually does the job."

I've often thought, in fact, I've held the opinion for many years, that this same classification could be made of people in regard to their health and care of the body.

The optimist says, "There's nothing wrong with me. I'm all right. That little pain doesn't amount to anything. That little sleeplessness is just due to overeating. That little sleeplessness is due to not getting enough exercise."

And so he goes on, always feeling that nothing can interfere with his health. He takes up all the new fads and you and I will have to admit that he is usually a pretty good citizen and enjoys, for the most part, very good health. He never worries about himself. But he may ignore serious telling symptoms by this optimism, until it is too late. Then there is the other type who is always thinking about himself. Every little pain or ache is magnified and he is a nuisance to himself and friends.

The peptomist is the chap who figures that the biggest asset he and his family can possess is good health. Accordingly, without being a faddist, he sees that a well-balanced diet is the rule in the household. He sees that his family and himself get enough rest daily. He watches the youngsters to see that they get the extra hour or two necessary to their growing bodies. He remembers also that his family and himself need a certain amount of the outdoors daily. His youngsters are encouraged to play outdoors after school every day.

Watching things from these three standpoints, food, rest, and outdoor exercise, if any of the family is not feeling right and the cause is not immediately apparent, the family physician is called in, because there really should be no reason for illness under the circumstances. The physician will usually find the cause.

Temporarily Marooned

SONNET TO HIS LUTE—

My lute, be as thou wert when thou didst grow
With thy green mother in some shady grove,
When immelodious winds but made thee move,
And birds their ramage did on thee bestow.
Since that dear voice which did thy sounds approve,
Which wont in such harmonious strains to flow,
Is reft from earth to tune the spheres above,
What art thou but a harbinger of woe?
Thy pleasing notes be pleasing no more,
But orphan wailings to the fainting ear;
Each stroke a sigh, each sound draws forth a tear;
For which be silent as in woods before:
Or if that any hand to touch thee deign,
Like widow'd turtle still her loss complain.

—William Drummond.

State's Development

Long Beach Press

California has developed and is developing prodigiously. But its development is only a beginning. It has not passed to the limit, or even in sight of the limit, in any form of developing. Its population is estimated at 4,000,000. This is a huge figure, compared with population of other states. But experts estimate that fully 30,000,000 people could live here in comfort, without crowding. Hence California might multiply its present population by seven and yet be "comfy."

In mining, the state has not exhausted its riches, by any means. In its vast mountain ranges doubtless are enormous quantities of minerals of great value, which, in the fulness of time, will be discovered and developed.

In agriculture and horticulture, its possibilities are almost beyond calculation. Development up to this time is away under possibilities. There are vast areas of fertile but undeveloped land which, in time, will be converted into teeming acres by intensive farming.

In hydroelectric development and in manufacturing, possibilities scarcely have been approached. Mammoth industries will flourish eventually in this state, with multitudes of employees.

In commerce, California is destined to become one of the mightiest theaters of trade in the world. Commercial development on the Pacific is in its infancy, so far as America is concerned.

Out of and into California ports will flow mighty streams of commodities in international and intercoastal trade. California is great today, in its development. But it is pigmy compared to what it will be ten and twenty years hence.

Worth While Verse

But then there comes that moment rare
When, for no cause that I can find,
The little voices of the air
Sound above all the sea and wind.

The sea and wind do then obey
The sighing, sighing double notes
Of double basses, content to play
A droning chord for the little throats—

The little throats that sing and rise
Up into the light with lovely ease,
And a kind of magical, sweet surprise
To hear and know themselves for these—

For these little voices; the bee, the fly,
The leaf that taps, the pod that breaks,
The breeze on the grass-tops bending by,
The shrill quick sound that the insect makes.

—Katherine Mansfield.

Ma was sewing on her sewing machine and I was standing there looking at her and after a while I sed, Hay ma.

Hay is for horses, do I look like a horse? ma sed.

No mam, I sed. Wich jest then I thawt of a good comment, saying, I bet you a lot of horses would be glad if they could look like you, ma.

Sutch flattery overwelts me, ma sed, and I sed, Well hay, ma, do you know that strawberry shortcake Nora made for suppr?

I do, wat about it? ma sed. I ate a strawberry off of one corner of it, I sed.

Well, you shouldn't of touched it, but I appreciate you telling me about it, and I suppose the absents of one berry wont matter mutch, ma sed.

Thats wat I thawt, I sed, But G. ma, wen the strawberry was off it left a little dent in the wipp cream and it didnt look so good, so I went and got a spoon and ate that part of the wipp cream to make it neater, I sed.

Well of all things, the cake must be a pritty site now, ma sed, and I sed, Well, it looks pritty good now, ma, because wen I ate the wipp cream off it showed the cake underneath and that looked fearse, so I went and got a knife and cut that slice rite out, and ate it and made the cake look mutch more natural.

Is that so, well then thats jest about as natural as its going to look on your account, and dont you dare ask me for another slice at suppr, ma sed.

Wich I didnt, thinking she mite weaken and give me a slice eny ways.

Wich she did.

MAY 24, 1910

Orange county's highway commissioners began a survey of the roads in this district.

Members of the Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers' association will meet at the city hall here tomorrow to discuss matters relative to the industry.

Fire destroyed a barn and ten tons of hay at the corner of McClay and McFadden streets. The loss was estimated at $1600.

The Santa Ana post office was notified that after June 1 it may employ a new carrier. This will give the local office seven carriers.

A team of work horses owned by R. J. Blee and driven by Charles Breeding broke away and ran from McFadden street to Myrtle street on Orange avenue. No one was injured.

H. G. Stearns, principal of the Huntington Beach high school, resigned and A. E. Payne was elected to succeed him.

THE NEW CLUB HOME

Intangible and faint, a spirit dwells
There in the quiet shelter of the walls
Where soft, the golden light of summer falls

Where shadows lie, like cool and darkling wells.
Passing within the low-arched,
wide-flung doors,
Seeking the quiet of the chimneynook,

Ling'ring to leaf through some beloved book,
Or flitting soundlessly through corridors—

A spirit faint from that romantic past
When Spanish padres loved our land so well

And left a heritage, slow time to outlast
Of homes like this where pride and peace may dwell.

That spirit whispers mid the scenes so new,
"Twas thus we builded—better than we knew."

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

Love of home is inborn in the hearts of every one of us, whether that home be a Little Gray House cuddled under the sheltering branches of the Shaggy Plum Tree, or a stately mansion of airy rooms, standing in proud dignity amidst sweeping lawns. And the home itself is not the thing of bricks and plaster achieved by the builder, but that intangible something that reaches to the heart of one and whispers "Love dwells here."

A home—a proud and gracious home—has been achieved in Santa Ana, a home of restful charm, of quiet severity and of calm dignity, the home of the Ebell Society of Santa Ana Valley, to whose beautiful and harmonious fittings we offer today the only aid in furnishing we know, a humble Patchwork

House.

May walls of peace shut out all grief and woe;
And may love's roof spread warmly overhead.

May fires of friendship on the hearthstone glow
With embers burning ever clear and red.

May every window open to the sun,
May every door swing wide to joy and mirth

But close securely 'gainst unfriendly things,
In this, your heavenly mansion here on earth.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 11—CUTIE COTTONTAIL DISAPPEARS

"Please give me half a pound of lard," said Cutie Cottontail one day, bursting into Mister Bags' store in the woods, and pushing the door open so hard that it went tinalingling for five minutes nearly.

"You get it, Nick," said Mister Bags, "and put it into one of those little wooden things, will you," panted Cutie. "You know—like a little boat."

"All right," said Nick, wondering why Cutie was so particular. "But run straight home with it, for it's a warm day and it will melt."

Nick measured out the lard and wrapped it up and gave it to Cutie and away the little rabbit boy went like the wind.

"I wonder what he is in such a hurry for," laughed Mister Bags.
"Pickles and porcupines! It's the first time in all my life I ever saw that youngster move like that, except one day when Wasp Weasel chased him."

Everything in the store went on as usual after that. Mrs. Chip-munk came in to buy some moth-balls to put away her winter clothes, and Mrs. Groundhog wanted some tender flannel for flannel cakes, and Daddy Cracknuts came in for some tobacco for his pipe, and Mrs. Owl telephoned for an order of groceries, and no one had time to think any more about Cutie and his lard, until the telephone went "tingalingaling," and when Nancy answered it, it was Cutie's mother.

"Did Cutie go to the store for some lard about an hour ago?" she asked.

"Yes, ma'am," said Nancy. "And he was in an awful hurry. He hardly gave Nick time to wrap it up. He just grabbed it and ran."

"Well, he didn't run home," said Mrs. Cottontail. "And neither did the lard, although as it's such a warm day, it's probably nothing but grease by this time, and running over everything else. I'm making doughnuts and I need it. I wonder where that little rascal is."

"We're not very busy just now," said Nancy. "Nick and I can go and hunt for him if you like. Maybe he has stopped to play."

"Like as not," said Mrs. Cottontail severely. "I'll be much obliged if you do."

Off started the Twins, and they looked and looked and looked for Cutie Cottontail. But nary a hair of him could they see anywhere.

It seemed as though the earth must have opened up and swallowed him.

"I wonder if Wasp Weasel—" began Nancy, a dreadful thought coming into her mind.

"There's something. What's that?"

"They had come to the edge of the creek and there lay the lard on the bank wrapped in a large green leaf. But no Cutie, and no paper, and no little wooden holder!"

"What do you suppose can have happened to him?" she cried.

"Cutie, oh Cutie. Where are you?"
Just then Mossey Mud Turtle poked his head out of the water.

"Are you looking for somebody?" he asked. "If it happens to be Cutie Cottontail, I saw him sailing off in a boat two hours ago."

Nick knew now why Cutie was so anxious to have the lard in a wooden thing "shaped like a boat."
